REDS LAUNCH TERRIFIC DRIVE; BRITISH BOMB NAZI WARSHIPS

17th District Race Wins State, U. S. Attention

Party Bigwigs Come to Aid of Rival Candidates as They See Contest as 'Straw In Wind' In Election Year; New Deal Major Issue.

With the election only four days away, the special 17th district congressional race held the attention of both state and national political leaders today as they looked for the first "straw in the wind" in the presidential election year.

With the Democratic nominee, Byron B. Ashbrook, a staunch supporter of President Roosevelt, and his Republican opponent, J. Harry McGregor attacking the policies of the federal administration, the contest has developed into an out and out battle over the New Deal.

That the outcome of the congressional contest is considered of vital importance to both parties in the state and nation is shown by the fact that Capt. Victor Hunt Harding, a campaigner for the New Deal, was sent from Washington to boost the Ashbrook campaign, and Gov. John W. Bricker, who has presidential aspirations himself, has taken the stump for McGregor.

State party leaders on both sides are directing their attention to the district campaign, seeing in its results an indication of the political trend in Ohio and the nation. Former Governor Martin L. Davey was willing to forget past differences with other Democratic bigwigs to come out and campaign for Ashbrook.

Davey, whose scheduled talk in Mansfield for Saturday night was cancelled after Democratic leaders here said he would not be welcome, will make five speeches for Ashbrook in the district.

Davey Begins Tonight.

He will begin at Newark and Coshocton tonight and then will go to Ashland for a talk Saturday night. He will speak at Mt. Vernon and Delaware Monday night.

State Democratic Chairman Arthur L. Limbach and former Governor George White came out for Ashbrook today. Lim-

GAMBLING BAN NOT CRUSADE, MAYOR SAYS

Locke Explains He Told Bates Gaming Should Be Kept at 'Absolute Minimum.'

ADMINISTRATION POLICY

Can't Stamp It All Out But You Can't Let It Run Wild, Either, Official Adds.

Mayor W. J. Locke said today that the partial ban on gambling in Mansfield, instituted this week in a "one-man blitzkrieg" by Police Chief Meade K. Bates, was not a planend crusade but merely in keeping with the administration's policy to keep a check rein on public gambling.

Locke explained that when he took office in January he had called in Bates and explained his position on gambling, which he said he recognized as being widespread in the city, and told Bates then that he believed it should be kept to an "absolute minimum" and that he would leave the enforcement of the law entirely up to the chief "with no strings tied to it."

"I don't think it is possible to stamp out all forms of gambling" the mayor said, "because there it little that can be done about private bingo games, card games, private lotteries and gambling in private clubs, but on the other hand you can't allow it to run wild because that in turn attracts a bad element to the city, attracts the big-time rackets and even worse than gambling follows."

'Passed Information on.'

Locke said that last week it had been brought to his attention from several sources that nothing was being done to curb gambling in the city and he passed the information on to Bates.

"I didn't issue any orders to stop the forms of petty gambling that exist; I merely reminded him of our first conversation and told him that enforcing the law was his responsibility. I have a lot of faith in Bates' ability and I left it up to him to work out his own enforcement plans."

Bates personally contacted stores operating poker sheets, punch boards, slot machines and one-ball marble machines this week and told them to put them away. The order also goes for numbers houses, operators said.

Bates said yesterday that he had not given any such orders and knew nothing about the gambling in the city. More than a dozen store proprietors and gambling operators, however, said he had contacted them personally.

Candy punch boards, Bates is said to have told proprietors, were excepted in the sweeping order against all other forms of punch boards and "jackpot" boards.

Locke added that there was no time limit on the ban, as it will continue to be his policy to control public gambling so long as he is in office.

Prosecutor, Officer Surrender

JUDGE FERGUSON

DUNCAN C. M'CREA

FRED W. FRAHM

Wayne County Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea, top right, and Fred W. Frahm, bottom left, recently deposed Detroit police superintendent indicted Wednesday by a special grand jury on a charge of conspiracy to operate and protect a baseball pool, surrendered for arraignment today. Frahm, first to appear, was accompanied by two attorneys. "I hope the public will withhold judgment until all the facts are known," Frahm said. McCrea appeared a few minutes later with his attorney, George M. Clark, former Michigan supreme court justice, and Mrs. McCrea. Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson, top left, who returned the indictments, said he would seek McCrea's removal as Wayne county prosecutor. Action for McCrea's removal was expected to come through a petition to Governor Luren D. Dickinson.

PLANES RAID HELGOLAND IN NEW ATTACKS

Allies Answer Raids on Coast Shipping With Drive on German Ships, Subs.

NINE U-BOATS SUNK

Two Nazi Planes Shot Down Off England as Sea and Air War Is Intensified.

(By United Press)

LONDON—Royal Air Force bombardment of German warships in Helgoland bay was announced by the air ministry today as Nazi planes renewed attacks on British coastal shipping and the allies opened an intensive drive against U-boats.

One German plane was reported shot down off the Essex coast and one British plane was lost en route home from Helgoland.

Intensification of the sea and air warfare was illustrated by the fact that two German planes were shot down off England yesterday and a total of nine Nazi submarines were reported sunk or damaged in the last 10 days.

Raid During Night.

The results of the British bombardment of German warships in Helgoland bay were unknown. British sources said that the raid (apparently by three planes) occurred at night, which made it difficult for the British fliers to check results of the bombardment which was carried out under intensive anti-aircraft fire.

Removal of Nazi air raids on coastal shipping was reported from the Norfolk coast, where British fighting planes went into action. Bomb explosions and machine gun fire was heard off the coast.

The air ministry said that three German fighting planes attacked the British raiders and that one of the Nazi craft was believed to have been forced down.

(In Berlin, the official news agency said one British plane was

Russians After Major Victory For 'Army Day'

Thousands of Troops on Mannerheim Line Seeking to Break Stubborn Finnish Resistance; Artillery Fire Blasts at All Fronts.

BULLETIN

HELSINKI—(AP)—The Finnish high command announced today that the Mannerheim line's defenders had beaten back attacks along the entire width of the Karelian isthmus, killing about two battalions—perhaps 2,000 men—at one point and 800 men at another. The daily communique showed that the invading Russians were pushing forward deeper into the center of the line beyond Lake Muola.

(By International News Service)

HELSINKI—Finland's Mannerheim line was converted into a bursting, smoking, smashing inferno today as Soviet troops on the Karelian isthmus celebrated the 22nd birthday of the Red army with a terrific onslaught against the Finnish defenses.

In a supreme effort to gain a major victory on Russia's "Army day," Soviet War Commissar Klementi Voroshilov, directing operations, ordered every available Russian soldier to participate in the monster offensive.

The attack was launched on a grander scale than any seen in the Karelian area so far, and probably was the greatest staged in Europe since World war days.

Russian artillery hammered incessantly against the entire Finnish defense zone, particularly at Viborg, the ruined "second city" of Finland which the Russians have made their next major objective. Latest reports said Russian troops were within 14 miles of Viborg.

Russian infantry attacks rolled against the Finnish defenses in quick succession as Voroshilov hurled thousands of men into action in a frantic attempt to break through the Finnish lines. Advices received at noon said that Finnish forces were holding out "splendidly" but disclosed that the Russian attacks are increasing in violence hourly.

One dramatic report from the front told of a gallant band of Finns holding out against terrific Soviet onslaughts in the island fortress of Koivisto, thereby seriously impeding the Soviet advance against the western end of the Mannerheim line.

On other sections of the Karelian front, the Russians struggled to bring up their big guns to pound the already ruined city of Viborg, Finland's second largest metropolis, which the Russians hope to capture today to add to the Soviet celebrations of the 22nd birthday of the Red army.

The "death brigade" in Koivisto fortress was reported hampering

1,200 AT FOOD SCHOOL FINALE

Hints for Entertaining and Something 'Different' in Menus Mark Session.

The Ohio theater was the mecca for more than 1,200 women this morning when the final session of the Gasco Food institute was staged there. At lease 3,100 women attended the three-day school.

Today's menu was particularly appealing to women who entertain and who want something "different." A sandwich cake, cut from a round loaf of bread and "frosted" with white cream cheese after the layers are filled, and a recipe for target sandwiches, provided that something "different."

Empire Has Marked Gain In Earnings for Past Year

Operation Level for Year Runs Far Ahead of 1938, Company's Annual Report Shows.

With plant operations for 1939 averaging 70 per cent of capacity as compared with an average of 32.3 per cent of capacity in 1938 the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company last year booked net sales amounting to $4,990,256.01 as compared with $2,698,898.40 during the preceding year, according to the annual report being released today.

The report showed earnings for 1939 amounting to $401,748.05 with a net profit of $39,141.08, as compared to a net loss of $423,978.92 in 1938.

A letter to shareholders, signed by President James M. Hill, which was included in the report, stated that general operating expenses of the company as well as depreciation costs were kept at a level comparable with that of 1938.

For plant equipment and modernization, expenditures during 1939 totaled $104,672.32, according to the report. Expansion is to continue this year, O. C. Henkel, company treasurer, said today, with $96,700 already under contract for a mechanical roughing mill and cold doubling unit to be installed this year.

Since the beginning of the year operation has fallen off to 55 per cent of capacity Henkel said the company expected this figure to be maintained in coming weeks.

Taxes per share of stock increased from 79 cents to $1.20 during 1939 the report showed.

FIREMEN HURT

13 Injured Battling Blaze in Cincinnati Building.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— At least 13 firemen were injured, some severely early today in fighting a general alarm blaze that swept two stores on upper Reading road, an outlying business section.

Among victims was Assistant Chief Edward Shearwood, held for X-ray examination of head and chest injuries.

Some were overcome by smoke, others were caught in wreckage when a section of concrete and marble flooring gave way shortly after 3 a. m.

No estimate of loss was immediately available.

The buildings were of three-story brick construction, upper floors given over to apartments.

TAXES POUR IN

$108,000 Collected as Books Are Officially Opened.

County real estate tax receipts for the first half of the year mounted to $108,602 today as the last of the tax statements were mailed to property owners.

With the mailing of tax statements to the rural districts, the county tax books were officially opened by Treasurer John E. Kolb. Statements were mailed to the owners of about 33,000 parcels of land in the county.

Because the county was hard-pressed for funds, the treasurer began collecting taxes in Mansfield more than two weeks ago. Payments may be made until April 10 without penalty.

On the basis of early receipts, the collection for the first half of the year will be unusually high, the treasurer believes. Total tax bill for the year will be more than $1,500,000.

Tyger Gridders to Take Belated Bow at Dinner Tonight

Mansfield high school football players will step up and take a belated bow tonight when they are tendered their annual banquet by The News-Journal at the Mansfield Leland hotel.

The first course will be served at 6:30 p. m., and the elaborate program will follow the dinner, with Atty. Carl H. Henkel as toastmaster.

The News-Journal will also have members of the Tyger cage team as its guests. The Mansfield high band will be on hand to whoop 'er up for the athletes before the start of the dinner along with the cheerleaders.

George E. Gauthier, athletic director and head football coach of Ohio Wesleyan, will be the principal speaker. Others on the speaking program will be the Mansfield high coaches, Harry Mehock, Paul Snyder and Vern Hoffman; Jim Scott, Ohio Wesleyan basketball coach, and Joe Bishnik, of the Downtown Coaches association, who will make the presentation of the first "Most Valuable Player" award.

A motion picture program of football subjects will climax the affair.

'GONE' OPENS

Madison Shows Famed Picture; Seats Still Available.

The motion picture industry's most important picture to date opens at the Madison theater today, with all seats reserved.

"Gone With The Wind" comes as a road show and will be Mansfield's only opportunity to see it in 1940. The film will show only at road show prices for the remainder of this year and probably a part of next year.

Two performances a day are scheduled for the week that it plays the Madison—at 2 and 8 p. m. Every seat is reserved for all performances, and there are still good seats left for every show, both afternoon and evening, according to the management.

DEATH TOLL 200

New Earth Shocks Hit Turkey, Thousands Left Homeless.

ANKARA (AP) Six new earth shocks in central Anatolia in Asiatic Turkey today caused widespread damage and increased a steadily mounting death toll to nearly 200.

Hardest hit by the new quakes were the villages of Kuljuk Sindelhin and Kizik where several hundred were left standing.

Thousands have been left homeless by the series of tremors which started Wednesday.

MOTHER, SON BURNED

COLUMBUS —(INS)— A mother and her three-year-old son were rushed to University hospital today suffering from severe burns. Mrs. Mariana Color was burned when she went to the rescue of her small son, Robert. In some manner his clothing became ignited while he was playing.

BLOCKADE: Allied Warships, Soviet Navy Reported In Clash

(By Associated Press)

COPENHAGEN—A British-French warship squadron began today a blockade of the northern Russian coast, the newspaper Berlingske Tidende reported, while uncomfortable rumors circulated that a clash with the Soviet Arctic navy already had been precipitated.

The paper said the Allied ships were strung out for a considerable distance along the Arctic coast to prevent shipment of Russian supplies to Germany and to halt any possible attempt to deliver Russian submarines to the German navy.

Presence of Allied vessels in that far northern vicinity was confirmed yesterday.

There were rumors that the blockading war vessels already had come into conflict with Soviet naval craft, but there was no confirmation of this.

Aside from blocking trade between Germany and her friend, Russia, the British and French were described as aiming to prevent any German ships from taking refuge in Russia—as a number of merchantmen did in the early days of the war.

Until now, it was reported that German merchant carriers had been maintaining steady connections with Murmansk, which is an ice-free port despite its Arctic location on Kola bay.

SEIZURE: Caution Congress On British Removal of U. S. Mail

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Senate elder statesmen cautioned congress today against precipitate, retaliatory action against Great Britain for repeated cases of American mail

Chairman Key Pittman of the senate foreign relations committee and Sen. George W. Norris [illegible] contended that Britain has a "perfect right" to examine mail destined for Germany.

However, reports that British marines had supervised the removal of mail from a clipper ship at Bermuda aroused other senators to demand that clippers be prohibited from landing at British ports.

The Bermuda incident, the last of several involving the British mail inspection system, precipitated the following action and revelations with respect to the Anglo-American mail controversy:

1. Pittman, Norris and Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.) opposed hasty action over the Bermuda incident and expressed more concern over the British compelling American ships to stay in contraband-controlled ports for long periods.

2. Sens. Bennett C. Clark and Harry S. Truman, Democratic colleagues of Missouri, led the group demanding action to prevent American clippers from being searched.

3. The state department has not formally protested the seizure of mail at Bermuda inasmuch as this government already is on record as ready to recognize Britain's right to examine mails and ships which voluntarily put into British ports.

The Mansfield Scene, In Words and Pictures

AS REGULARLY as Sunday itself comes your edition of the Sunday News-Journal—as well balanced with news and features as a sermon with its "firstly," "secondly" and "thirdly," and as pleasant to see as the blond in the soprano section of the choir.

Here are some of the interesting features you'll find this week.

Who Won?

ON THE SPORTS PAGES full results of the Richland county basketball tournament . . . and a special feature story by Oscar Ruhl, News-Journal sports editor, on the pro football team that wowed 'em back in 1920. Remember? Well, there's a picture of the team to help your memory along.

Life Savers!

TWO PHOTOS showing the newly organized school boy patrol at John Simpson in their new raincoats and belts with an accompanying story by Robert Flohr . . . Incidentally, Flohr says the patrol is really something to write about; there has not been a child fatality at a school crossing since it was organized throughout the city. There's also a full page of sound school news giving the facts of life at Mansfield high schools.

Traffic Must Go Through

YOU'VE heard a great many stories during the past couple of weeks about motorists and truckers who were tied up along the highways by snow and ice. Virgil A. Stanfield brings you the other side of the picture—an illustrated story of the men and equipment working night and day to get the roads clear.

Newest P. T. A.

PARENT-TEACHER organizations seem like pretty well established groups in Mansfield, but Jane Williams, concluding her series of feature articles on P. T. A. tells about one group organized just two weeks ago at Johnny Appleseed Junior high school. The feature also describes the origin and development of the five other P. T. A.'s not previously covered in the series.

Girl Taxi Driver

SHE lives in Shelby. Her cab is on call 24 hours a day. She hasn't learned the taxi driver's lingo, but well Harold Valentine gives you the whole story, illustrated.

It Looks Easy

YOU turn the taps at the kitchen sink and splash! there's your water supply. Winding up his series of articles on Mansfield municipal government Robert E. Rogers tell you how the water gets to your tap. In fact he gives you the story of three vital public services, water, sewage disposal and garbage collection.

Who Nominates The President?

MR. AND MRS. AVERAGE VOTER [illegible] this year. It will be the first time in 1932 [illegible] of the [illegible] how presidential tickets are picked.

It's Not Old Stuff

NO MAAM [illegible] look like much but at the housekeeping project on East First street women are learning to make handsome tables from scraps of wood and home decorations a real attractiveness from discarded cloth. The Sunday edition has a story with pictures telling about it.

Then there's society, markets, a page for women and complete news coverage of your neighborhood and the world. You hardly need to be reminded of the zippy column by Dorothy Kilgallen, the new cross-quiz puzzle, the pageful of Dainty Dionnes or the colored comic section. They're habit-forming and a good habit, too.

Mother-In-Law Problem Solved In a New Way

ST. LOUIS —(INS)— The traditional mother-in-law problem has been solved by some St. Louis couples by going to school with them.

The unusual class is called the Psychology of Successful Living and is one of a series of adult homemaking courses being conducted by the St. Louis Board of Education during the evenings.

"There are some very interesting combinations in our class," declared James S. McAndrews, class instructor. "Not only are there married couples with their mothers-in-law, but parents with their children, and young people with their brothers and sisters. To all of them we try to impart the secret of happy home life.

"It's time we realized, I think, that of all the vocations, parenthood is the most important and the least prepared for. I expect that wherever the mother-in-law problems exists, it is very often an outgrowth of poor training for the job of parenthood."

LIE DEPARTMENT COMBATS NAZIS

British Sections of Africa Set Up To Foil Propaganda.

CAPETOWN, South Africa—(AP)—A "lie detector department" to counter Nazi propaganda in the British sections of Africa has been established by the Union Unity fund, a South African organization formed to fight Germany's widespread ideological publicity campaign.

Staffed by economist, historians and experts on international affairs, the anti-lies department was designed to combat radiocasts from Zeesen, powerful short-wave broadcasting station in Northern Germany, and other Nazi propaganda.

MORE RECORDS

LONDON —(INS)— Over 60,000 gramophone records and disks have been removed from Broadcasting House, London, to a "place of safety." Among the notable voices on the disks are those of the ex-Kaiser, Florence Nightengale, Edison and others. King Edward VIII's abdication speech is among them, as are all of Hitler's speeches.

TEXAS TO BUILD $7,000,000 PARK

Property Near Brazos River and Kingdom Dam to Be Developed Soon.

MINERAL WELLS, Texas —(U.P.)— Designed to be one of Texas' greatest vacation spots, a $7,000,000 park along the Brazos river above Possum Kingdom dam is to be built during the next five years.

The Brazos River Construction and Reclamation District, charged with improving the river for flood control and power development, has deeded 3,300 acres of land to the state park board. The park board has agreed to spend $7,000,000 in developing the property within the next five years.

The property deeded to the park board is situated northwest of Possum Kingdom dam, which is under construction in Palo Pinto county on a bend in the Brazos river. The park will be located on both sides of the river, above the lake created by the dam. The site is about 30 miles from here and a similar distance from Breckenridge and Graham.

Russell Whatley of Mineral Wells, a director of the Brazos River District, said that plans already submitted for the park include construction of recreational centers, clubhouses, boathouses, swimming pools, tourist cottages, scenic roads and picnic sites.

Two camps of CCC workers will be established to help construct the park, and the National Park Service and Department of Interior is aiding in plans for the project.

Some local officials have estimated that the park will attract 750,000 local visitors and tourists each year when it is completed.

Work on Possum Kingdom dam probably will be completed this year. Several towns have voted bonds for building auxiliary dams to increase municipal water supplies. Throckmorton will build a $55,000 dam this spring and Anson, Tex., has approved a $115,000 bond issue for similar work.

IN THE RUHL BOOK

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

WEDNESDAY'S crowd at the county tournament games in the high school was not only one of the largest in the history of the event, but showed more sportsmanship than is usually the case when these old rivals clash, according to the veteran fans . . . Bob Gilliland, Lucas forward, is the kind of a ball player who make the officials' duties easy. He had only two fouls called on him in 17 games during the regular season, and his third was chalked against him in his first tournament game Wednesday . . . Gilliland, incidentally, is one of two players in the elimination whose fathers are school superintendents. The other is Bob Edgerly of Bellville . . . Boyd Hodge is listed in the official program as coach of the Bellville quint. Did you notice the error? The Bluejay mentor is W. H. Miley . . . Nicknames carried by three of the tournament teams originated in The News-Journal office some years ago. Madison was nicknamed the Rams, shortened from Ramblers: Lexington, Minutemen, and Shiloh, Drummer Boys. Plymouth was christened Pilgrims, but the school changed it to Tigers later . . . Three of the nine coaches are Ashland college graduates. They are Al Fendrick of Madison, Orville Kibler of Ontario and Jim Hunter of Union. John Rees of Lexington and Bob Burgett of Butler are ex-Ohio Staters . . . Colors of three of the schools are red and white, the same as Mansfield's.

Keller Also Slipped From Tribe's Hands.

CHARLEY KELLER, the Yankee' slugger, once belonged to Cleveland. He actually signed and received a bonus, but he was only 17 at the time. The Indian contract was torn up, the check sent back by his dad and he was ordered to Maryland university. . . . Ever since the Athletics paid Benny McCoy $45,000 for signing a two-year contract calling for $10,000 a season, a story has persisted that the Tigers gave Connie Mack the money he spent on McCoy and that, sooner or later, Mack would square accounts with Detroit by giving him a player, presumably Wally Moses. Both clubs have denied the charge. . . .

Nip at Scot's Heels

Toledo, Ohio U. Win Again to Remain in Battle for State Cage Crown.

(By Associated Press)

OHIO UNIVERSITY and Toledo nipped at the heels of Wooster today in the state-wide basketball race.

The Bobcats rang up victory No. 17 by tripping Ohio Wesleyan, the team that handed the Athens five one of its four defeats. The Rockets posted their 21st triumph against six setbacks by stopping Detroit, 38 to 32. Wooster is out in front with 14 and 2.

• • •

Frankie Baumholtz tossed in 18 points, boosting his season mark to 334, in pacing Ohio U. to a 50 to 40 decision. The Bishops trailed at the half, 21 to 16, but twice rallied in the late periods to take the lead. Ott had 16 points for the Bobcats and Buttermore 13 for the Delaware quintet.

• • •

Toledo scored 16 of its 38 points from the foul line in beating Detroit. The motor city Club was on top at intermission, 18 to 16, but Jim Grant, substitute Toledo guard, broke a 28-28 tie midway in the late half and led the Ohioans to victory.

Heidelberg beat Ashland, 55 to 52, and Wittenberg turned back Marietta, 57 to 50 in Ohio conference contests. Other results on the independent front last night included Western Reserve's 66 to 33 whipping of Baldwin-Wallace and Rio Grande's 38 to 34 edge on Morris Harvey.

Wittenberg won from the foul line, each team getting 20 field goals. It was the last game of the season for both teams, and gave the Lutherans a league record of 9 and 5 and Marietta 1 and 9.

Cliff Heskett, junior forward, tallied 13 points for a total of 307 points in 25 contests to become the first Wittenberg player to score more than 300 points in a season.

• • •

Forward Zalar dropped in two free throws in the closing seconds of the Heidelberg-Ashland game, forcing an overtime in which his team eventually won. He had 22 points, with Jim Richcreek pacing the Eagles with 15. Richcreek's points ran his season total to 285, a school record. The score was tied at 50 at the end of regulation time.

• • •

Reserve's triumph clinched a tie for the championship in the Big Four, Cleveland school conference. Earl Zella sank two goals in the last minute to give Rio Grande its edge on Morris Harvey. The Ohioans were on top at the half, 19 to 10.

Southern California's Trojans Ready to Defend National Title

For 31 years Dean Cromwell has coached the Southern California track team with great success. The 1939 aggregation was national champion. Cromwell already is priming his 1940 squad. Here are five of his hopes, left to right, Fred Mayes, sprinter; Art Reading, half mile; Jim Lytle, Howard Upton and Ed Grunbock, quarter mile.

Ambers Choice In Non-Title Go With Davis

Lightweight King Favored at 9 to 5 to Trim Unbeaten Brooklyn Fighter.

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— Young Al Davis, a brawny, unbeaten Brooklyn welterweight, tries to tag lightweight Champion Lou Ambers with his first knockout tonight in their 10-round non-title fight at Madison Square Garden.

If Davis and his paralyzing left hook to the solar plexus can turn the trick, he will clinch a title shot with Henry Armstrong, the welter king, at Yankee stadium this summer.

• • •

A near-capacity crowd of 18,000 and a gate of $65,000 is expected because Brooklyn's tough "Dead End Kid" is the greatest metropolitan-bred drawing card in the ring today.

• • •

Ambers, the "Hurricane" from Herkimer, N. Y., is favored to win at 9-to-5 in the heaviest betting in many months. But his handlers are so uncertain of his condition and so appreciative of the danger menacing him that they made him go through a lengthy, secret workout late yesterday. Which is most unusual on the eve of battle.

Ambers is favored because of his eight years' ring experience, coupled with his blinding speed and ruggedness. When in proper condition, the Herkimer jumping-jack is as fast and elusive as a mongoose.

Not a 'Holdout,' Medwick Explains

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(U.P.)—Outfielder Joe Medwick of the St. Louis Cardinals said today that he couldn't be classed as a holdout because he "hasn't seen his 1940 contract." The contract arrived by registered mail at Medwick's home here while he was absent, and was taken back to the post office because there was no one to sign for it.

Sam Breadon, president of the Cards, here a few days ago, said Joe had been offered $18,500, the same as last season, and he could "take it or leave it."

Speaker Expects Mack to Fill Hole In Cleveland Infield

By CHARLES P. McMAHON

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—Tris Speaker, the old gray eagle who led Cleveland to its only pennant back in 1920, said today that the Indians had a fair chance to repeat this year.

"The natural assumption is that the Indians will be better this season," he said. "The only team, it appears now, that they have to beat is the Yankees.

"I think that they've just about plugged their infield with Lou Boudreau at short, and if Ray Mack can come through with some hitting, they're going to be very tough. Mack is one of the best pivoting second basemen I've ever seen. He's got a strong arm and gets the ball off fast."

But what did he think of Mack's hitting which was practically nothing last year?

"Well, here's a funny thing for you," Speaker replied. "Mack came to the Indians last year when all the pitchers were at their top form. He never could get started. Those old-timers take a little while to get into top speed, and it was Mack's misfortune to come in just when they hit the peak.

• • •

"But he's liable to fall right in swing this season, because the pitchers are going to take longer to hit their stride. There's little reason why he shouldn't click."

• • •

Speaker, called the "best outfielder of his day" in baseball's hall of fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., appeared fit and fine as he discussed the Indians' fortunes. He was down to 193 pounds little more than his playing weight when he was roaming the outfield for the Indians.

"The Indians pitching staff still looks like the best on paper in the league. Of course, there are a lot of 'ifs and buts' but where isn't there on any team?

"Feller is probably the one to look to for a 30-game winner. He's got a year's more experience, and the fact that he appeared in 39 games last year—more than any other Indian—improved his control. If he does win 30, that's practically a third of the pennant. But unless they get the needed defensive strength in the infield, it won't help much.

"The outfield looks good—very good. Heath is a satisfied ballplayer and should be banging the ball this season. Ben Chapman and Roy Weatherly are liable to come up with crackerjack performances. Weatherly's fast, a great fielder and he's got a good arm. I don't know much about bean ball."

• • •

"There's one spot that the Indians appear to be better off than any other club. That's in the catching department. They've got Rollie Hemsley and Frankie Pytlak, two good catchers, and they both want to play. That's not a bad situation when you've got two top-notchers out there trying like that.

• • •

"Well, I guess that's about all I can say about the Indians. They should do better than last year, which means second place. They're only problem is to beat the Yankees—what a headache!"

Speaker stood up, still lean and hard, and ran his hand through his white hair. He pulled at his ear.

"Say did I ever tell you about this outfielder down in Mexico. No? Well, his manager, I can't think of his name now, told me the story.

"The fellow hadn't been hitting and the manager asked him about it. The outfielder replied, 'I'm not hitting on account of the multitude.'

"'Well,' the manager said, 'the ball goes further in this rarified atmosphere.'

"'I guess it does,' the outfielder said, 'but this multitude still gets me down.'"

Junior Clubs Fire In Mid-West Meet

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— A special team match between Ohio's two ranking junior rifle clubs was added today to the 15th annual mid-west rifle tournament tomorrow and Sunday which will climax the indoor rifle season in the state.

The Columbus junior rifle and revolver club will fire against the Akron American Legion Post 209 Junior Sharpshooters at 2 p. m. Sunday in a match to be broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting system. The Columbus team holds a slim four-point advantage over Akron in season telegraphic competition.

Fred Gierhart, jr., national junior school rifle champion, will captain the Columbus team which finished third in the national junior rifle meet at Camp Perry last fall. Edith Hancock will captain Akron.

Between 250 and 300 shooters from Ohio and bordering states will fire in the two-day tourney.

GASCO JUNIORS SUFFER DEFEAT AT ASHLAND

The Richland Gasco Rifle and Pistol club Junior team dropped a 485 to 478 decision to the Ashland Y. M. C. A. club at the Ashland armory last night. Sprecker led the Mansfielders with a 98.

CAGERS FLY TO TOURNEY THEN LOSE, 21 TO 8

SANDUSKY —(AP)— The Kelleys Island basketball team was quick in getting here to play in the Erie county basketball tournament last night, but not so fast on the court. The team arrived by plane, due to the dangerous condition of the Lake Erie ice bridge. Birmingham eliminated the islanders in the first round, 21 to 8.

BARONS FAIL TO GET AUBUCHON FROM HORNETS

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Seeking full strength for the International-American Hockey league playoffs and guarding against the injury jinx that has trailed them most of the season, the Cleveland Barons made an attempt to obtain Hank Aubuchon from Pittsburgh but were unsuccessful today.

Aubuchon has been playing at center for Pittsburgh on loan and the Hornets intend to keep him for the balance of the season. With rosters required to file their eligible playoff players by Feb. 29 Cleveland faced the prospect of finishing the season with 15 players.

New York Boys Top Mat Card

Becker and Marino to Clash At Armory Monday.

East is East and West is West and never the twain shall meet. That's what Rudyard Kipling said. But the immortal Rudyard didn't say anything about East meeting East, so Tim Nolan, the Quality Club's affable matchmaker has signed two native New York City boys to meet in the feature event of Monday night's wrestling show in the Armory.

• • •

George Becker is one and "Bull" Marino is the other and they've signed for two out of three falls with an hour and a half time limit.

• • •

Here is a curious match, but a good one. Both of these boys were born in New York City, yet they have never wrestled each other; in fact, never met until they came into the middle-west to wrestle.

MANSFIELD RIFLE CLUB LOSES TO GALION TEAM

The Mansfield Rifle and Pistol club defeated the Galion Stevens team, 1390 to 1349, in a match at the Galion armory last night. Sells was high for the Mansfielders with 289, while Mrs. W. Rinehart topped the Galion club with 285.

BUFFALO CAN'T ADOPT ERIE AS A FARM UNIT

ERIE, Pa.—(AP)— The Erie basketball club of the Mid-Atlantic league has been informed that Buffalo of the International cannot adopt the Erie team as a farm unit. Buffalo reported it doesn't have enough players to go around and it was unable to get any assistance from major league clubs not connected with the Mid-Atlantic league.

MACK DEVOTES SPECIAL ATTENTION TO CATCHERS

ANAHEIM, Calif. — (AP) — Connie Mack devoted special attention today to the catcher problem of the Philadelphia Athletics as result of the continued holdout of Frank Hayes. The veteran pilot expressed optimism over his young catchers, Earle Brucker, Hal Wagner and Morris (Buddy) Hancken. Bad weather kept the A's indoors most of yesterday, and many took the opportunity to attend the Santa Anita derby.

Meet Ontario, Lucas Saturday

High-Scoring Bill Martin Shoulders Bluejays' Hopes In High School Games.

By CHARLES MARTIN

HEAVILY FAVORED to advance to the championship finals, the Bellville Bluejays and Lexington Minutemen are straining at the leash today ready to return to action in the semi-finals of the Richland county Class B tournament at Mansfield high Saturday afternoon.

Bellville, led by towering Bill Martin and Howard "Tick" Hamilton, the pre-tourney favorite, takes on a determined Ontario high quintet in the initial tussle at 1:30 o'clock.

Possessing one of the neatest passing attacks of any combine in the tourney, the Minutemen face their test at 2:30 against Lucas high, the defending champion.

• • •

The losers of these contests return to the Mansfield high court at 8 p. m. Saturday to battle in the consolation finals, with the winners clashing in the championship setto an hour later.

• • •

Mentor John Rees' athletes, who can fling, propel or heave the ball into the net with devastating results from nearly any point on the hardwood, and Bellville will be seeking their first trip into the county tournament throne room.

Whether the Lexington quint is capable of eliminating the stubborn Lucas five is a question, but if it plays the type of ball exhibited Wednesday in topping Madison, the Cubs are in for some trouble.

While the Minutemen rely on Nelson Reel to feed the ball to his fast-breaking teammates under the basket for easy shots, they also have a potent long-range attack.

Bill Shaffer, who finished in the runner-up post in the individual race in the county league, and Wilbur Wade demonstrated this conclusively against the Rams, and Lucas' coach has a real problem in setting up an adequate defense.

The Bluejays, who hold two circuit wins over Ontario, are expected to emerge with the verdict.

With Martin, individual scoring champion of the county league, setting the pace, the Warriors face a tough job in upsetting Bellville.

• • •

Shiloh, which lost to the Bluejays Wednesday, had two men guarding the crack pivot man, but still he scored 11 points. And while they were concentrating on him, Hamilton and Don Palm took over the duties and each added 10 points to the scoring column.

• • •

Ontario, a hard-rushing club, may bust up the Bellville passing game and if it does the latter team might have some difficulty in hitting the hoop.

Glover Ready For Test In Chicago Meet

Mansfield Boy, Teammates Leave Saturday for Windy City, Fight Monday.

Tapering off his training sessions with a brief workout in the Papke A. C. at Cleveland today, Beauford Glover, sensational Mansfield lightweight, was ready to join a team of seven Cleveland Golden Gloves open champions which will entrain for Chicago and fistic fame Saturday morning.

• • •

Glover and his teammates invade the Windy City to participate in the Tribune Golden Gloves classic which gets underway at the Coliseum Monday night.

• • •

The Cleveland club is one of 43 teams traveling to Chicago to battle for a place in the national tournament at Boston in April.

The Tribune's tourney opens Monday and runs through Wednesday, with the finals set for Wednesday, March 6.

It will mark the first time any Mansfield amateur mittster ever won the honor of fighting in two major boxing tournaments. Glover, hard-punching youngster, who has been working out under Trainer Bus Doehla at the Friendly House training quarters in the Phoenix hotel, is in tip-shop shape.

• • •

Another member of the team, George George, 175, of Lorain, is also known to Mansfield fans. He appeared in the Junior Association of Commerce tourney here last spring.

• • •

Accompanying the fighters from Cleveland will be Sam Otis, director of the Cleveland classic, Papke and his trainers.

Thomas to Return As Tiffin Pilot

TIFFIN—(AP)—Myles Thomas, who managed the Toledo Mudhens of the American association last season, will pilot the Tiffin club of the Ohio State league this year.

Thomas is no newcomer here, having led Tiffin to the league championship in 1936. He left in 1937 to become head coach at Toledo and was named manager after Fred Haney quit the Mudhens to direct the St. Louis Browns. Thomas once pitched for the New York Yankees.

BATTLE TO DRAW

BALTIMORE — Lew Feldman, 137, New York, and Joe Ghnouly, 137, St. Louis, drew (10).

OLIVERA SEEKING WEST COAST BOUT WITH PACE

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Tony Olivera is angling for a west coast bout with Georgie Pace, Cleveland, recognized as world bantamweight champion by the National Boxing association. Tom Stanley, Pace's manager, announced Frank Tabor of the Golden Gate Athletic club, San Francisco, had offered such a bout. Stanley said Pace would consider the offer after his March 4 title fight with Lou Salica, of New York, at Toronto, Ont.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

SUMMARY OF ANNUAL REPORT FOR 1939

THE 93rd Annual Report of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company covering operations for 1939 will be presented to the stockholders at the annual meeting on April 9, 1940. Total operating revenues increased $70,546,537 or 19.6% over 1938. Operating expenses increased $49,853,592 or 19.4%. Net income was $32,032,525 as compared with $11,046,100 in 1938. ## Favorites Upset At Santa Anita

Sweepida Romps to Victory By Length and Quarter In Rich Coast Derby.

By JACK GUENTHER

ARCADIA, Cal.—(U.P.) They still rubbed their eyes at Santa Anita park today—experts who lost and suckers who won alike—but nobody could erase the name Sweepida or the memory of the $68.60 the California-bred gelding paid in scoring his native state's first triumph in the $50,000 derby.

He wasn't even named for Kentucky's Derby and his future still is as obscure as a cubistic painting, but it will be many years before the three-year-old son of Sweepster is forgotten. That goes for his owner, H. C. Hill of Stockton, Cal., as well as for the other 34,999 persons who saw him turn back 16 rivals by a length and a quarter for the biggest upset in Santa Anita's stake history.

* * *

For Hill thought so little of his own horse's chances that he backed him with only a five-dollar bill while he sent his roll along on Son Altesse, who finished a solid twelfth. But Hill had consolation money of $43,850 as first prize, while thousands of fans who jumped on the low-priced choices had nothing but headaches.

* * *

The R. C. stable's Royal Crusader was second, William Ziegler's Weigh Anchor third and C. S. Howard's Mioland fourth, but actually Sweepida was the only horse in the race He led from flagfall to finish, from wire to wire, and he covered a mile and a furlong in 1.51 3-5

The spectators who braved chill gray skies and a morning drizzle to watch the sixth running of the west's richest three-year-old showpiece expected a surprise and got it. They backed the entry of Tough Hombre and Gallahadion to 3-1 and saw both horses fail to enter the contention. They saw Sweepida, longest shot in the race, skip to a length lead a few strides out of the Westinghouse electric gate and hold it all the way.

* * *

Two of the others had excuses. Foxcatcher Farm's Maestro Sascha fell while running far back at the three-quarter pole. Neither the horse nor Jockey Douglas Dodson was hurt. Tough Hombre was badly bumped at the beginning, and never got back into stride.

* * *

The nut brown gelding had the early foot and the distance ability to make his longest race his best one. Neil McCarthy's Augury, a filly who was second choice, tried to match the pace for a while but couldn't keep up in the stretch. Royal Crusader didn't bid until the final turn then lacked speed. Mioland, a flying horse at the end, came up from ninth to catch fourth money of $2,500 but the distance was a bit too short for a victory

Touring for Finns

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY M'LEMORE

ANAHEIM, Cal.—(U.P.)—Odd sort of fellow, Benny McCoy. For a baseball player, that is.

No red neck, no open polo shirt, no chew of tobacco, no eyes for the hotel cigar counter girl, no over-developed muscles from yanking the handles of a slot machine or flipping the plunger of a pin ball game.

* * *

Just a quiet sort of boy, with a mop of blond hair, a shy smile, and the sort of clothes that Hart S. and Marx build for the conservative trade.

* * *

He was walking along the streets of Anaheim when I found him. Stopping here to peer in a window, pausing here to take a look at the assorted articles in a hardware store display.

"You Benny McCoy?" I asked.

"Uh-huh, I'm Benny. What?"

"I'd like to talk to you. Let's go back to the hotel."

"Okay. What you wanta know?"

I wanted to know the same things that a thousand sports reporters must have wanted to know about Benny since Judge Landis declared him a free agent and he got a $45,000 bonus and a two-year contract for $10.000 a season from the Philadelphia Athletics.

He answered them all.

He thinks he's lucky; one baseball player in a million who got the big break. Ten clubs bid for him, five from each league. The phone started ringing ten minutes after Landis cast him free. The first offer was from Washington—$30,000 bonus for signing and $10,000 a year. The biggest National league bidders were Cincinnati and Pittsburgh. They offered him $40,000 and $10.000. The first price he put upon himself was $30.000 and $10.000—"and I was afraid I had made the bid too high," he said. "But I figured I could come down easier than I could go up."

He's a little sore at Bill Terry because of the crack the Giant's manager was supposed to have made. Bill, someone told him, criticized him for refusing to sign with any team that wouldn't guarantee him a job as regular second baseman.

* * *

"I never demanded that," McCoy said. "I just wanted to go with a club where I could have a chance to play all the time. I won't lie to you. I just didn't see the sense in signing up with a team that already had a second baseman who was established, who I'd have to fight for the job. I'm no star. Get that straight. I know I'm not. I'm just 23 and learning."

* * *

But the real low-down on McCoy came from the other athletic players and the newspaperman who came on the train that brought the squad into spring training quarters late last night. The team is for him to a man. There isn't one of them, even to the oldest, most distinguished regular, who isn't pulling for the kid to come through. There is no one who is jealous for him, or one who begrudges him the publicity that has been his for the past few weeks.

Cues Defeat Moose

Farmers Dust Off Daley Cafe, Milkmen Triumph Over Augustine Canfields.

A LAST-SECOND fielder by France enabled the Isaly Dairy five to edge the Augustine Canfields, 30 to 29, at the Friendly House last night and retain a share of first place in the Senior Class A league

Raemelton Farm, co-leader and first half champion, dusted off the Daley Cafe five, 35 to 31, for victory No. 2, and the Rex Billiards, 1939 champions, scored their first win in this round by turning back a stubborn Moose Lodge club, 27 to 25.

* * *

Trailing by a 14 to 11 count at halftime, the Cuemen rallied to grab a 18-16 advantage at the end of the third period and then kept pace with the Lodge five in the last chapter. Fred Brubach was high for the Billiards with 13 points The Cuemen held a 7 to 3 lead in the initial frame.

* * *

Grabbing a 7-6 advantage in the first quarter, the Raemelton Farm outfit ran wild in the second and third chapters to stop the Cafe cagers.

* * *

The Farmers led, 18 to 11, at the half and 29 at 19 at the end of the third. Matt Hager led the Farm club with 12 tallies, while Bajai of the Dairy team took high-point honors with 12 markers.

Owner of Stolen Auto Tells Thief How to Start It

BOSTON — (INS) — The kind heart of William Moore was torn between grief over the loss of his old automobile and sympathy for the man who stole it.

Through the police, Moore extended the following advice to the unknown thief:

"That car of mine is very temperamental. You'll have to pamper it to make it go. And sometimes even pampering won't help. My advice is that if the motor doesn't turn over the second time you step on the starter just get out and thumb a ride. Nothing will make it work when it gets into one of its moods. I don't want to cause any trouble to anyone if the car is returned we'll call it quits. I have become rather attached to it."

Judge and Commissioner Start Two-Man Clean-up on Gambling.

DETROIT —(AP)— Aiming at gamblers and their "connections" with officers of the law, elderly Commissioner Frank D. Eaman and Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson are in the midst of a drive in behalf of the city virtue.

Detroit, the nation's fourth city, hasn't seen its like in many a year. Neither have the bookies, running for cover from police axe squads, nor court clerks, busy filling out subpoenas.

For a long time, so say those who claim to know, Detroit has been a "good town" for gamblers. There was "sucker money" here—from the nickles and dimes for the numbers racket to banknotes in elegant gaming resorts.

Commissioner Eaman, suspecting that some of his bluecoats had been "greased," went on the warpath when he was less than a fortnight in office. Charging he had been given "the run-around," he fired his second-in-command, Superintendent Fred W. Frahm, last month. A long series of demotions and retirements followed. The shakeup became known as "Eaman's earthquake."

Meanwhile, Judge Ferguson's one-man grand jury investigation into charges of police graft stirred up more dust. Three officers went to jail for contempt of court. City hall people and the coppers on the beats wonder what next.

RECORDS AID AGED.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. —(U.P.)— Old persons who had trouble with the law in their youth are now glad their names and ages are on police records. The Social Security Commission accepts records of arrests in establishing the ages of pension seekers.

STOCK PRICES FLUCTUATE IN SLOW MARKET

Lack of Decisive Military Movements in Europe Retards World Marts.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YCRK Traders worked hesitantly today among fluctuating stock prices.

Trends were decidedly mixed and operations were conducted at a slow tempo.

Bonds were uneven in quiet dealings. Commodities generally gained a bit. Foreign sources were firm but turnovers were small.

Lack of decisive military movements in Europe was regarded from the financial viewpoint as a bar to the establishment of any specific trend in the world's main markets. Traders sought inspiration principally from domestic developments.

Among the news developments most interesting to Wall Streeters was a tentative decision by British and French purchasing missions in the United States to expand their aircraft orders. The earlier reports did not offer an estimate as to the size of the proposed orders.

Engineering news-record reported new plant construction this year had been heaviest in the fields of machine and machine parts, public utilities, metal and metal refining, paper, synthetic yarns and chemicals—all basic industries.

Plans of Packard and Nash for adding a smaller car to their lines were widely discussed in the financial district. There was speculation concerning experimentation with a new smaller Ford model.

SOVIETS AFTER MAJOR VICTORY FOR 'ARMY DAY'

Moscow Pours Thousands of Troops Against Finland's Mannerheim Line.

the Soviet operations by means of a deadly enfilading fire directed against the attacking Russians.

Artillery batteries at the Finnish fortress also pounded Russian detachments attempting to bring up their big guns for a seige of the fort.

(Editor's Note: Earlier this week a Soviet communique claimed the Koivisto fortress had been captured. Finnish military authorities officially denied this claim. Later advices via Stockholm explained that the Russians appeared to have captured the mainland town of Koivisto but not the island fortress.)

Wait Reinforcements.

In the face of the newest Russian assaults, the Finns were fighting a last-ditch battle from defenses before their second line positions, about five miles from the advance positions which they abandoned after withstanding the Russian offensive for about three weeks.

Field Marshal Carl Gustav Mannerheim, the Finnish commander-in-chief, was reported anxiously awaiting additional reinforcements. In addition to Finns between the ages of 44 and 46, Helsinki authorities already have called up thousands of foreign volunteers who are now flocking across the nation's boundaries to fight under the Finnish flag.

Today's fighting on the Karelian front was raging under a blizzard which was increasing in intensity and piling up huge drifts over the blood-stained battle lines and frozen corpses of dead soldiers. Reports from the front, however, said that the snow has not yet fallen in sufficient quantities to halt the Russian push.

Military dispatches stated that the Finns were still holding out all along the Mannerheim line, but that the Russian onslaught has brought the Red army units within 14 miles of Viborg at the nearest point.

If an expected thaw sets in, officials said, it may prove decisive in helping the Finns by bogging down the Russian mechanized forces.

Finns Retreating, Russians Declare.

MOSCOW—(INS)—Soviet troops hammering at Finland's Mannerheim line on the Karelian Isthmus are driving back the Finnish forces, the soviet high command said today in a war communique issued on this 22nd anniversary of the founding of the red army.

"Nothing of importance at the front," the war bulletin stated.

"Soviet troops on the Karelian isthmus, repulsing the enemy, occupied 21 defensive fortifications, including 15 iron and concrete artillery forts.

"Owing to a snowstorm, aviation activities were restricted to reconnaissance flights."

Official circles in Moscow refused to deny or confirm reports that N. G. Kutznetzov, soviet navy commissar, had gone to Murmansk.

Reliable reports to Stockholm yesterday said the Russian navel chief flew to Murmansk, northern soviet port, to put the Russian Polar fleet on a war footing. His mission was linked with reports—which British officials deprecated but neither denied nor confirmed—that British warships are lying off the Arctic coasts of Russia and Finland.)

All indications were that the soviet troops on the Karelian Isthmus are pushing a determined offensive aimed at capture of Viborg, Finland's second city, and an important military key point.

The Russian high command, it was believed, is anxious to announce that Viborg has either been captured or cut off in time for the victory to be celebrated in connection with today's observance of the founding of the red army.

HUNT LION NEAR PITTSBURGH

Police Launch Search as Residents Report Seeing Jungle Beast.

PITTSBURGH —(INS)— A lion was reported loose today in the Evergreen district on Pittsburgh's northside. A small army of police officres was assembled immediately in the district and a search launched.

Four persons reported they saw the animal and three others claimed they heard it roar. All were positive it could be nothing but a large lion. Tracks on a frozen reservoir, observers said, were too large to have been made by a dog.

Arnold Schaumann, superintendent of the Highland Park zoo, was called to make an examination of the tracks and report to authorities.

ADMITS MURDER

Truck Driver Confesses He Stabbed Beautician.

JOPLIN, Mo.—(UP)—A truck driver told County Prosecutor Roy Coyne today that he stabbed and beat pretty Mrs. Eula Gipson Kinsal, 28, to death, then ripped the clothes from the body in drunken, maniacal fury and scattered them over a weed patch.

"I must have been a maiac, but I was drunk," Delmar Petty, 32, father of three children, said. He was charged with murder.

Petty said he had taken the beauty shop operator, who was estranged from her husband, to a roadhouse Wednesday night. He had been drinking all day, he said, and remembered nothing of what had happened after they arrived.

He could give no motive for the slaying. Coyne said, but "there was no doubt in his mind" that he had done it. The body was found in a weed patch near the club.

17TH DISTRICT RACE WINS OHIO, U. S. ATTENTION

Party Bigwigs Come to Aid of Candidates; See Outcome as 'Straw in Wind.'

bach predicting Ashbrook would win next Tuesday although the contest "may be close."

White wired Ashbrook that "I feel you will carry the banner of the late William A. Ashbrook left and I urge my many friends to rally to your support."

In his statement Limbach said: "Reliable reports from every county in the district indicate definitely that the small advantage the Republican nominee had at the beginning of the campaign has been wiped out during the last two weeks."

Backing McGregor with Gov. Bricker is State Republican Chairman Ed. Schorr who came out early for the majority floor leader in the Ohio house of representatives, an unusual procedure in a congressional campaign.

Davey-Bricker Test Seen.

State political observers interpret the contest as a test of the popularity of Gov. Bricker and Davey who are supporting the rival nominees.

Since the governor has announced he will seek re-election and Davey is almost certain to be in the race for the Democratic nomination for governor, neither of them is missing the opportunity to "make hay" for himself in the present campaign.

Speaking again Wednesday night in behalf of McGregor at Coshocton, the governor called attention to the Republican administration's economy record, asserting that his administration had saved "thousands of dollars by eliminating favoritism and shakedowns in the liquor, highway, and state purchasing departments."

Bricker said money had been saved because his administration employed "hard-working, efficient men and women who are giving the taxpayer a dollar's worth of service for every dollar spent."

McGregor Here Tomorrow.

While Davey and Ashbrook are speaking in Ashland Saturday night, McGregor will make an address at a G. O. P. rally at Republican headquarters in Mansfield, winding up his campaign in Richland county. The meeting will open at 7:30 p. m.

Election board workers here today were preparing 25,000 ballots and election supplies for distribution Saturday and Monday.

The board warned that the deadline for obtaining absentee and sick voters' ballots is noon Saturday. They must be marked and returned by noon Monday.

The board had received 57 applications for ballots today, more than in the special primary but far below the number it usually receives for a general election.

Bigelow to Run With Bigger Pensions as Issue.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Herbert S. Bigelow, Cincinnati preacher-politician, proposed today to seek "a state office" to make his movement for higher old age pensions an active issue in this year's election campaign.

Bigelow was the author of a proposed constitutional amendment defeated last November, to guarantee monthly income of $50 to single persons more than 60 years old and $80 to couples.

Cincinnati city councilman and former congressman, Bigelow refused at a Springfield rally to name the office he would seek but said he would announce his candidacy in Dayton Sunday.

He admitted that "I do not care to win," but would become "a state candidate" merely to have access to the radio. He said he would force all candidates to voice their stand on old-age pensions "so that you can all protect yourselves with your vote this fall."

"They have listed old age pensions as too dangerous to talk about on the radio," Bigelow remarked, "but they will sell time to candidates for office, so I must become a candidate to talk to the people."

He launched in Springfield a drive to collect funds for his radio campaign.

Bigelow, a Democrat, has been mentioned as a possible candidate for governor.

SHIP SENDS SOS

Finnish Steamer Reported Being Attacked By Two Subs.

LONDON —(INS)— The London Daily Telegram reported from Helsinki today that the Finnish 2,621-ton steamer Brita sent out an SOS reporting that it was being attacked by two submarines 30 miles south of Cape Clear.

British warships went to the aid of the vessel, which was reported sinking. Members of its crew took to small boats.

REPORT ALLIES, SOVIETS CLASH

Blockade of Russian Coast Launched to Curb Soviet Shipping to Nazis.

Development of the blockade magnified uneasiness of Scandinavian nations over the future of their neutrality.

In view of the bad feeling that resulted from British rescue of captive merchant seamen from the German ship Altmark in Norwegian waters last Friday night, there were apprehensions that any new naval clashes in northern waters would raise further knotty and embarrassing problems for the neutrals.

The British and French contend that Norway's coastline, broken by fiords and screened by offshore islands, offers a comparatively safe highway for German ships from Murmansk and has been used effectively to evade their blockade in the North sea.

British Warships Hunting 2 U-boats.

LONDON —(INS)— British warships are seeking two German U-boats reported to have been sighted off Kinnaird Head, Aberdeenshire and the west coast of Eire, it was revealed today.

Authorities stated two other German submarines were believed to have been destroyed by British coastal command war planes on Wednesday.

At the same time the British air ministry announced that Royal Air Force planes carried out further successful reconnaissance flights over Austria and Bohemia during the night.

The statement, indicating that British aircraft soared far over the eastern and southern sections of the Reich, was one of the few official announcements indicating that British reconnaissance flights have penetrated as far as Bohemia, former Czechoslovakian territory.

YOUTH HELD IN 'ROSE' MURDER

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — (U.P.) — John Frank Reavis, a trombone player who confessed the "Red Rose" slaying of a 17-year-old dance hall girl, said today he was "glad I'm caught."

Reavis, 25, was arrested yesterday as he sat in a park. He had been sought since January 5 for the slaying of Alice Burns, whose nude, slashed body was found December 28 in the Los Angeles gas house district. There was a red cloth rose, torn from her dress, under the body.

Miss Burns was stabbed numerous times and so viciously that a butcher's boning knife was broken off in her back.

TO SEE HITLER

Welles to Meet With Fuehrer During Visit to Berlin.

BERLIN —(AP)— United States Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, on his way to Europe to study conditions in the belligerent and other capitals, will have a conference with Fuehrer Hitler when he comes here, it was disclosed today.

United States Charge D'Affaires Alexander Kirk visited the German secretary of state, Baron Ernst Weizsaecker, for 40 minutes today, apparently in connection with Welles' visit.

Although the visit was described by an embassy spokesman as "purely routine," it was known that a tentative program was agreed upon for the visit of Welles, who is due to arrive in Italy Sunday night.

Assuming that Welles reaches Berlin by next Tuesday, it was tentatively agreed today that he would meet German foreign minister Joachim von Ribbentrop on Tuesday or Wednesday and that immediately after would follow a conference with Hitler.

NO DECISION?

James Roosevelt Indicates Father Hasn't Decided on 3rd. Term.

PHILADELPHIA —(INS)— President Roosevelt will decide the third term question on the issue of whether he can best continue his principles in public or private life, according to his eldest son, James.

The younger Roosevelt's remarks at a dinner of B'Nai Brith women last night led to the general inference in political circles today that his father has yet come to no decision on the third term question.

"There was liverlier activity among advanced posts between the Moselle river and the Palatinate forest," the official German war communique stated.

CHAPTER III

It was easy to see [illegible] there in the morning afternoon setting. She had only to go home and park a suitcase. But she covered that [illegible] more to it than [illegible] Marnie Bright [illegible] seeing her own dream [illegible] earth without putting [illegible] And she was in [illegible] corner of the room [illegible] couple of hours before [illegible] her without [illegible]

"What's gone wrong [illegible]" wailed Marnie [illegible] the percolator [illegible] fresh coffee. [illegible] the dishes and [illegible] ing in a row. [illegible] hat and go [illegible]

It was not an [illegible] roast for [illegible] her interruption. [illegible] for work.

She said [illegible] have time [illegible] have a private [illegible] Mrs. Lamberti. Nina Lamberti [illegible] home. And I [illegible] right back as soon as I [illegible] my things."

Marnie was wearing a [illegible] negligee which [illegible] pink, and [illegible] pens. Her hair [illegible] it might [illegible] to be goddessing [illegible] or care and grooming. [illegible] and in the girl's [illegible] the repulsive [illegible] by figure.

"What's that [illegible]" Marnie demanded. "How could you get a job?"

"Mr. Everett, my [illegible] teacher, recommended [illegible] said proudly. "I'm to be Mrs. Lamberti's secretary. She's a writer and wants me to live at her home. I went to see her this morning and I'm to move there right away. This afternoon."

"Oh, no you won't" her mother insisted. "Not after all the money I've spent on you. If you're [illegible] you can get a job with that charming rogue I told you about. Joe says they need another girl."

"Mother, I've told you I'm not going to be a dancer. And I don't want to go on the stage."

"It's all you're really fitted for," wailed Marnie. "And you've got just what it takes. It's what I've always wanted for you."

* * *

In vain Marnie Bright Delaman ranted and raved reminding her daughter of sacrifices which existed mostly in her own mind. "You wait," she threatened, "until I tell Joe about this."

"Joe is one of my reasons for wanting to leave," Star said, hold with her approximate freedom. "Oh, Mother, why do you stay with him? How can you?"

"Because I love him," Marnie stated.

"Then don't complain to me about him ever again," Star said, disgusted, and walking into her own room began to pack. Marnie followed. She argued and stormed until Joe was awakened and roared from his room to know what the devil was going on. While Marnie told him, Star was putting on her hat. She had no intention of stopping, but she heard a scene Joe sometimes struck her mother. He had never struck Star, usually because she kept out of his way. White with alarm, she faced him at the [illegible] to the door of her room. He was a big man with the heavy features of a farmer. A scar ran like an evil beast across one cheek.

"So you're getting out, are you?" he [illegible]

The girl [illegible] eyes met his.

"Yes."

Joe laughed.

"That's okay with me, but I'll see to it that you don't [illegible] I've spent all the money on you I'm going to. You've always been an ungrateful [illegible]"

She was pushed past at any rate, for she realized [illegible] permitted her to go out of his life [illegible] And [illegible] her mind to it [illegible] before leaving [illegible] Joe's face [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

GENIUSES CAN TAKE LOOK AT AUTO PATENTS

Librarian Says Basic Ideas Were Discovered Early.

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT—If you think you have Inventive talent and that just around an uncertain corner a fortune in cash awaits you for some device to revolutionize the present-day motorcar, it might be well to look at the patent files of the Automobile Manufacturers association or talk with William L. (Bill) Powlinson, its chief librarian.

Bill doesn't want to discourage inventive genius nor keep anybody from winning a fortune in automobile design or construction, but he has a wholesome respect for the men who started the industry and carried it on in its early days.

He is emphatic in his assertion that the "basic principles of the 1911 automobile are incorporated in today's models," and that chances for "revolutionizing" the industry are at least "remote."

Progress in the development of the automobile, he contends, has been largely one of refinement. He can draw upon some 250,000 patent papers, 10,000 volumes of periodicals, a thousand or more catalogues and a few thousand pamphlets to prove that in most instances of "revolutionary ideas" for motor vehicle construction "somebody else thought of it first."

"The idea of running an engine with coffee, tea, milk or some other substance as fuel is an old one," he says in explaining his skepticism regarding any revolutionary change in motor design.

LITTLE FOXES SAY NO 'NYAH'

In This Case They're Probably Glad It's All Over.

FLORENCE, Minn.—(AP)—You'll never hear any little red foxes around here singing "Nyah, nyah, nyah" to the hunters.

Not to hunters like Gust and Louis Oldenburg and Harvey Thompson, anyway.

Those boys just naturally worry the foxes to death. They pick up a good trail and start walking. They keep on, just plodding along. The fox gets worried. Finally, under the weight of his mental anguish, he slows down. Then the Oldenburgs and Thompson come along and pot him with a shotgun.

Sometimes, they think, the fox is almost glad its over.

'Vendol' Relieved Backache For Mansfield Housewife

Describes how she improved so fast. Says it relieved constipation and acted as a diuretic to kidneys.

Older persons are not the only ones who suffer from sharp, aching pains in the back, arms, and limbs. Younger ones also have it, though it does seem to bother those over forty most, because if their suffering is due to constipation or need of a diuretic to the kidneys, age is not to be blamed.

Mrs. Frank Faugl, of 307 3rd Ave., Mansfield, whose husband is proprietor of the popular Barber Shop at that address, described her experience to the Vendol Man in Central Drug Store, as follows: "I was suffering almost constantly from constipation, and my kidneys needed a mild diuretic action and these troubles caused a lot of distress from backache, pains in my arms, shoulders, and legs, and also kept my stomach in an upset and disagreeable condition.

"This upset stomach condition took the form of sourness, gas, bloated, feeling, cramps, acid risings, and "heartburn." Different foods I used to enjoy seemed to turn against me so I had to quit eating them.

"So many people spoke highly of Vendol, and some described their suffering like mine, that I began taking it along with the little Vendol laxative tablets, and this splendid medicine gave marvelous relief. First I noticed my constipation was relieved; then the diuretic action on my kidneys, and it wasn't long till I realized the backache and other pains no longer bothered me.

MRS. FRANK FAUGL

"This relief from constipation did another thing, and that was to relieve the upset stomach condition, and now I eat hearty meals, but never have any sourness, gas, cramps, nor that fullness or choking sensation after eating.

"I'm feeling grand now since taking Vendol, and am so highly pleased with it that I am glad to recommend it to others whenever I have a chance."

If you who read this, are suffering from the same troubles due to the same causes described here, and will come to Central Drug Store, Cor. Main & 4th Sts., ask for me, the Vendol Man, and I will explain all about my great medicine which is made mostly from extracts of Roots and Herbs, and tell you honestly if I believe it will help you. Samples are free. Most all leading druggists sell Vendol.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1940

Dog fight down on the corner just now—each of them thought he was better than the other.

About every so often Mansfield gets at least a mild touch of law enforcement epidemic—this seems to be the week-end for it.

According to an anthropologist, "man was just as intelligent 10,000 years ago as he is today"—but another 10,000 years is expected to show some real progress—if things go well.

Oppose Discriminatory Taxes

AT ITS annual meeting, the New York State Publishers association passed this significant resolution by unanimous vote: "Resolved that it is the belief of this association that retail merchandising, which so intimately touches the pocketbooks of wage earners and consumers generally, should be free from all unjust, punitive and discriminatory taxation, local, state and federal, in whatever form imposed."

This is not an isolated instance—press associations in many states, representing big dailies and little weeklies, have gone on record with similar resolutions. And that is a highly important fact. For America's working newspapermen know full well that millions of families have an exceedingly difficult time in making both ends meet—and that the higher costs which inevitably follow punitive taxation would be a harsh blow to their welfare and standard of living.

They know that American retail merchandising, under the open competitive system, has done a superb job in serving the consumer at lowest cost, and distributing the products of farmer and manufacturer. They realize the immense dangers political destruction of this proven, established system would involve.

The High Cost of 'Broken Homes'

EXCEPT that its repetition gives added emphasis, there is nothing especially new in the assertion of John A. Eisaman, attendance officer for Mansfield public schools, that "broken homes" are the chief cause of truancy from school.

Truancy from school may possibly be ranked among the minor evils of matrimonial break-ups, as much of the entire gamut of juvenile delinquency and later adult misconduct and criminality traces to the same source.

From a thing that was once so uncommon as to carry reproach, divorce has now become so popularized by examples from high places that many young people can scarcely be blamed for thinking of marriage as a temporary convenience rather than a life-time obligation and responsibility.

Recent divorce proceedings of the James Roosevelts—third of the five children in the nation's first family to seek severance of marital bonds—is peculiarly distressing in its further promotion of an idea that the modern trend is toward light regard for marriage vows and that stability of the family unit is no longer a dependable part of this nation.

It is regrettable, indeed, if the matrimonial whims and caprices of temperamental stars of stage and screen are to be accepted as standards by the younger generation of Americans in their attitude toward marriage, the home, and the responsibility involved in bringing children into the world.

In this particular, at least, the ideas and ideals of the sometimes ridiculed "horse-and-buggy" days seem more adapted to preserving the family unit in building toward a finer and more wholesome national life than the modern idea that divorce is a mere incident instead of a calamity.

Non-Belligerent U. S. A.

THE LATEST Gallup poll on the question of participation in the European war shows an increase in the number of people who believe that we will stay out. The 54 per cent who held that view in October has grown to 68 per cent this month.

Last August, when the war seemed imminent, many Americans feared that a war involving the major powers in Europe inevitably would soon include the United States. When it actually came we began to experience a strengthening of the idea that we must not send another army overseas. The argument was based not only on our own immediate good but on the growing belief that we might be needed more when peace came, and that our services then would be far more effective if we had remained at peace.

War feeling, as we know from experience, may come quickly, stirred by unexpected events or by fear and indignation. Yet the American people have now come to believe that it will remain a matter of their own choice. We do not have to go to war unless we want to, and if we keep our thinking straight and our actions wise we are not likely to find it necessary.

Biblical and Other Dates

A BIBLE CLASS in the East Dallas (Texas) Christian church had 17 members. Then somebody got the idea of having the class operate a "date bureau." In one month the membership soared to 265.

One of the members acts as manager. Lonely souls give him their pictures, age, height, weight and telephone number, and then hope for the best. Others examine the list, take their choice and notify the manager. There's no rule against informal arrangements, but about half the "dates" are arranged in this way. They seem to end by their Bible study. Wallflowers have vanished and patrons range in age from 18 to 40.

This business-like scheme may seem too practical and worldly. Yet it might be asked in all sincerity what drew young people to church Sunday school and Bible Class in the old days

It certainly was not entirely [illegible] was in seeing each other and making dates Sunday morning church service was a great opportunity. Many [illegible] getting back to earlier [illegible]

Word comes that [illegible] Florida Bartholomew has been able to [illegible] $126,000—which should at least carry him through another lawsuit

Associated with the parlous mix-up of alleged [illegible] going around nowadays, it could not be escaped that [illegible] should remark: "All is confusion."

With Orson Welles bringing on an attack [illegible] Sumner Welles carrying a peace plan to Europe there may be something in a name, after all

No small boys are told that they [illegible] man when they grow up—they just get the idea themselves.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK Too bad about the break between Jack Leonard and Tommy Dorsey. Dorsey had just the right touch to make Leonard click. And Leonard had a low, catchy way of singing ballads that was strictly his own

They tell me Dorsey used to take him to one side and make him sing into a trombone for hours. In that way his style was perfected.

Dorsey worked with him for months like that Tommy would play and Leonard would sing into the trombone. If you ever noticed, he sang just the way Dorsey played They were a great combination, and both, I fear, will lose by the break.

What the trouble was is a matter that concerns only them but to those who liked Leonard's wistful, confiding songs against the Dorsey background—well, it's too bad.

OSCAR LEVANT'S book, "A Smattering of Ignorance," isn't as funny as Oscar Levant in person. . . . They say he drinks 36 cups of coffee a day If that is true, Oscar is an extremist Twenty-four cups are enough for any man. . . . A post card from Kay Kyser says "Everybody so good," in Florida. . . . Line describing a heart-broken girl in a radio drama: "Her face is like a white sheet with holes burnt in it for eyes." . . . Have you heard John Chapman's story about the four Finns who were playing bridge by candlelight in a trench up above the Arctic circle? They heard a noise, and one of them looked out "It's another regiment of Russian's," he said. One of the other men got up and said, "I'll go, I'm dummy."

IN A recent interview Doris Dudley said this about John Barrymore: "He often says women marry him but he never marries them."

John has been wed four times has had many reconciliations This makes me think of another frequently-wed actor of the films who undaunted, started in search of his seventh bride But the young woman demurred

"You've been married so often, she said. "I hear so many strange stories about you"

"My dear," interrupted the actor, "you mustn't believe those old wives' tales."

THERE are three men who have done more to popularize Hawaiian music in New York than any other—Andy Iona, Ray Kinney, and Lani McIntyre Andy is part Chinese Ray is part Irish Lani is half Scotch

Recently McIntyre succeeded Kinney at the Hotel Lexington As an innovation he sings hula songs in French. Lani says he would rather live in Tahiti than any place in the world

Odd, isn't it, how places effect different people. Lani wants to live in Tahiti, and yet Fredric March once told me he liked Tahiti less than any place he had ever been.

Convincing Claims By Both Sides

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

A TALK with James A. Farley of the Democratic national committee is very enlightening as to the probable result of next November's presidential election. Jim Farley is an exceedingly capable politician. He also was in recent touch with all his party's committee members, from every corner of the country; they met in Washington only the other day to choose Chicago for their next nominating convention. Therefore he's strictly up-to-date. He's communicative and he's convincing. He can prove to almost anybody that the Democrats will have a walk-over at the polls in the fall

James Farley

He doesn't seem quite sure just whom they'll nominate but evidently he doesn't consider that particularly important. His party is absolutely solid he points out, whereas the Republicans are split wide open, so he remarks.

You leave, after a chat with Farley, with your mind definitely made up.

But to stay convinced like this, the investigator must steer clear of Representative Joseph W Martin, G. O. P. leader in the lower congressional chamber He'll knock Jim Farley's diagnosis into a cocked hat. After a chat with him, it'll be apparent to anyone that the Democrats don't stand a chance.

Chairman John D M Hamilton of the Republican national committee says the same thing, but Hamilton isn't as fluent as Martin is. Martin will demonstrate to anybody but the most prejudiced New Dealer that we're on the verge of ruin after the last seven years, that our only salvation lies in an immediate change in administrations

So, if you want to make sure which side you're on, be particular which authority you consult last

It All Depends

To determine whom you're betting on depends on whom you talked with last

Or, if you take 'em impartially, you can't tell which is which.

The last one is the one you're inclined to reckon with most.

I know which side my guess is on—not necessarily from sympathy but from what seem to me to be indications

I'd put my money on the Democratic candidate, but not better than 50-50

But I'd prefer the Democrat.

I presume it's just a hunch.

Guess whom I'd like!—if anybody cares!

Secretary of State Hull—Democrat; Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg—Republican

Either one would suit me—Hull slightly preferred

Party Splits.

Which party is split widest open?.

Why essentially, the Democratic party, of course.

I talked this over with the late Speaker Joe Byrns years ago

He was a Democrat and he explained very readily why Democrats disagree among themselves "It's because they have principles," he said, "but different groups of them have different sets of principles. They can't get together on 'em. They're too conscientious The Republicans haven't got any principles at all. All they want is to get into office. After they do get in they may quarrel over the plunder, but on election day they're as solid as a rock"

So it is today The Democrats are New Dealers and anti-New Dealers. They hate each other worse than Democrats hate Republicans or than Republicans hate Democrats.

Liberal Republican.

Some Republicans are a trifle more liberal than others and some are slightly more conservative than the comparatively liberal aggregation, but it doesn't amount to a serious split. If anything it's just a little rift. No matter whom the G. O. P. nominates there won't be a Republican bolt of any consequence.

But it's hard to see how the Democrats can hit on a compromise candidate satisfactory to both their factions. Nevertheless they're IN now and that's an advantage.

You realize that when you chat with Jim Farley It isn't so apparent, though, when you converse with Joe Martin.

Keep Life Dangerous!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SHE'S 17. And will I, "as a small favor," tell her "the secret of a successful life." Some job, youngster, but I'll try.

The secret of a successful life depends, of course, on your definition of success. If by "success" you mean and want guaranteed comfort, safety, pleasure, profit—you've come to the wrong shop. I don't know how to live a life that will guarantee such returns nor would I tell you if I did I've seen too many Horrible Examples in people who've striven for such goals

But if by "success" you mean an abundant life, a challenging colorful life which will keep you interested and interesting until the end, then I can give you the answer in three words.

KEEP LIFE DANGEROUS

Why dangerous? Because that's the only way to keep active And activity is the secret of growth and constant growth is the basis of Big and Worthwhile Living

That's why comfort is such a menace and pleasure the curse it is. You'll never be really active in mind and soul as well as body if you're comfortably contented or safe or "just having a good time."

* * *

HUMAN beings never [illegible] their greatest [illegible] when they're safe when they can take things easy People get [illegible] out of Life and Life gets the most out of people when they go [illegible] tough. Pioneering [illegible] never safe nor easy yet [illegible] more down the line in the [illegible] more rich and [illegible] passionate people in human [illegible] one day than there is [illegible] of synthetic modern living

Young [illegible] thinks that it will [illegible] and hard-boiled [illegible] drive an auto at [illegible] or do stunts in an airplane [illegible] breaking speed [illegible] nobiles and airplanes [illegible] of your own [illegible] THE MACHINES ARE DOING THE JOB NOT YOU!

[illegible] breaking machines [illegible] "Ah, but I'll be [illegible] soon." The Master Age [illegible] We [illegible] to the [illegible] would

But remember there is deadly peril in machines as well as convenience for they give a false sense of [illegible] in your own character, not the revolutions of a wheel. And unless you do accumulate that wallop, life will call your bluff sooner or later and show you up for the phoney which you are.

So if you want a successful life, a powerful and exciting life, an interesting and impressive life, you must do a job on yourself, girl A job on yourself and in yourself And there's only one way to do that—and machines won't help you You'll have to build character just as your grandfather did, and your great-great-grandfather who never saw a machine—by your own grit.

KEEP LIFE DANGEROUS Keep life uncertain and uncomfortable The old Spartans with their tough technique had the right notion You can learn a lot from a good dental ad with its case against soft diets But the damage done to your body by soft eating isn't a patch on the damage done to your character by soft living

* * *

BEWARE of happiness or conditions which keep you happy. Beware of people who love you too much, protect or flatter you too much. Deliberately seek people who'll tell you frankly that you're not so hot Expose yourself to risks. One good active enemy is worth a hundred yes-men as a spine stiffener.

Above all live so vigorously that [illegible] always be forces about [illegible] without curiosity is blotto [illegible] don't believe me look at the [illegible] eyes of some of the so-[illegible] and multi-millionaires [illegible] grab all you can get or in-[illegible] yourself until your burnt [illegible] before you've even started [illegible] so-[illegible] that they'll always [illegible] experience ahead a new [illegible] an untested untasted

Life is desirable only as long as [illegible] puzzling When you find yourself no longer [illegible] active you might as well phone the embalmer [illegible]

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Don't be fooled on the third term business by Jimmy Roosevelt's divorce. Jimmy didn't wait for his father to make up his mind not to run before bringing suit against his wife.

Real fact is, the president couldn't have stopped him; in fact nobody could have stopped him. Jimmy was determined to get a divorce and the president's political future did not enter into the picture. Jimmy, it will be remembered, has not been too considerate about his father's political situation in the past, and he was not this time. The president made no effort to stop him, and probably could not have done so had he tried.

Only person who consistently opposed the divorce was Jimmy's wife, Betsey Cushing Roosevelt. Although she and her husband had made no great pretense of living together for several years, she was anxious not to embarrass her father-in-law by an outright divorce.

Betsey Roosevelt is one of the president's favorites. In fact friends of the family say he is almost more fond of her than some of his own children. She accompanied him on his coast-to-coast trip in 1932, and for a long time lived at the White House with her children.

Betsey was willing to wait an indefinite length of time, even another four years, in order not to inject an issue which might hurt the president. That was why she so consistently denied rumors of a break, even when Jimmy no longer denied them.

* *

Planned Divorce In 1938.

ONLY intimates of the Roosevelt family know about, but Jimmy first determined to get a divorce after he left the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn., in November, 1938, where he first met pretty nurse Romelle Schneider Only some fast and persuasive talking on the part of Harry Hopkins and other intimates stopped him from making the break then.

Note—Of the two other divorces in the Roosevelt family, Elliott refused to wait, and apparently had no regard for the effect upon his father's political situation. Elliott was divorced during the heat of the 1932-1933 crisis. Anna Roosevelt, although estranged from Curtis Dall for several years, waited a considerable length of time until the repercussions from Elliott's misalliance had subsided.

Editor's Note—Watch the Merry-Go-Round next week for an answer to the big question mark: Will Roosevelt run for a Third Term?

* * *

Capital Chaff.

OREGON political leaders think Tom Dewey left the Northwest with less prestige than he had on arrival. . . . Bob Taft has hired Forrest Davis, one of the best publicity men in the business. (He needs him.) . . . Chief Justice Hughes suggested to new Justice Frank Murphy that it would be a good idea for him to get fully rested and recuperate from a cold before assuming full duties on the Supreme court . . . Republican Judge Walter B Wanamaker of the common pleas court of Ohio is being urged by friends to run for the senate against Vic Donahey, the incumbent. . . . Says Mrs. Cordell Hull: "My husband will discharge anyone whom he finds is giving these state department secrets to the Merry-Go-Round."

* * *

Roosevelt and O'Connor.

ONE OF the most deadly political enemies of whom Roosevelt can boast (and he has several) is ex-Congressman John O'Connor of New York, former chairman of the rules committee.

Roosevelt and John O'Connor began exchanging political blows when John used to battle New Deal legislation in his committee; and the fight continued, getting hotter and hotter, until finally Roosevelt threw his weight into the New York congressional election of 1938 and O'Connor was "purged."

Despite all this, however, Basil O'Connor, brother of John, continues to be on intimate terms with the president and is now acting as attorney for Betsey Roosevelt in her divorce proceedings. He is Roosevelt's old law partner

* * *

Japanese Menace.

ALTHOUGH European troubles hog the headlines, what is worrying the president and Cordell Hull most today is the danger of more Japanese aggression in the Far East.

No one is saying so, but secret consideration has been given to sending the United States fleet to the Philippines to be ready for emergencies.

The situation boils down to this: U. S. Far Eastern policy, generally recognized as wise, and certainly subject to little criticism from the American public, may have backfired It may have put the Japanese military in such a desperate position that they will adopt even more desperate measures.

What the Japanese military are arguing is that with the denunciation of the U. S.-Japanese trade treaty, the United States might break off trade relations at any time. This would leave Japan in a serious predicament. Most of their raw materials, virtually all of their oil, the most essential of their basic war supplies come from the United States.

So the military leaders are arguing that with the possibility of these supplies being cut off, they must move immediately to seize the Dutch East Indies. Here are tremendous oil reserves, plus other raw materials which they now get from the United States.

Civilian and, to a certain extent, naval elements in Japan oppose so drastic a move. But the Japanese military are in control. What they say goes

This is why the state department is urging Senator Pittman to side-track his embargo against Japan. They fear it would mean an immediate Japanese drive on Java and Sumatra.

This is also why the navy and state departments have been trying to figure out ways and means of maneuvering the fleet in such a way as to score the Japanese away from the Dutch East Indies. Only trouble is that any such maneuver is likely to embroil the United States.

What Hull and the admirals are trying to figure out is some way to shake the poker at Japan without getting the hot point jabbed in our own eyes.

A Good Provider

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I WALKED UP through the new fallen fluffy snow beyond our lane fence and north across the hill. Snow clung to the western side of every object, mostly. Only a three-inch blanket, yet even on the rolling surface of the fields the hollows could not well be seen. There were no shadows or shaded portions.

A large hollow oak tree stands near the border of a thicket. Near it I saw dainty tracks of field mice, and a place where a jay had lit and scratched a hole in to the spongy ground. It had happened very lately for I could discern a slight warmth rising from the earth beneath, and stooping caught the odor of the mould, woodsy and satisfying.

Some distance from the tree base I noticed another opening in the snow and crumbs of earth dug out. I saw where a red squirrel's tracks had come and returned again to the large tree trunk Both times he had grasped the rough bark 18 inches from the ground—in leaving and coming back. I examined the hole he had dug and found he had only skimmed a little loose earth from the surface. A layer of frozen soil had baffled him and he had not found what he came for. I hunted a tough dead branch, pointed the end of it and began to dig.

The point of my stick was blunted before I had gone three inches down, and I almost believed he had deceived both himself and me I sharpened the stick again, though and plunged it down harder than before As I pulled it out a fragment of shellbark fell upon the snow. I pried away the frozen earth in a long chunk and as I lifted it out, a pint or more of hickory and hazel nuts, black walnuts and butternuts came to view.

"What a pity," I thought. "He knew that food was here. I took a hollow chip, loaded it with nuts and placed them in the shelter of a root, hoping he would find them.

As I started on, I saw a robin's nest in some bushes, and beneath the thick branches the same sort of squirrel tracks approached and left. I pulled the little treetop down and looked into the empty nest. Upon the snowy edge was the mark of two tiny forepaws, and where the snow had been mussed up, as though by an inquiring nose. I pressed my finger down and felt and heard the hard meat shells of nuts grind against one another Here was forethought for lean and weary winter days. My pity had been wasted. I doubt not that in some hollow log or dead tree branch he has yet another pantry filled with food.

POOCHES CARRY BIG TAX BURDEN

It's Dog's Life For Dog Owner in Liechtenstein.

VADUZ, Liechtenstein—(AP)—The little postage-stamp principality of Liechtenstein between Switzerland and Austrian Germany has lower taxes than almost every other country in Europe save on one thing: dogs.

Liechtenstein's 7,000 cows and 3,000 pigs are the main source of income to the country's 10,000 inhabitants. Cows don't like dogs and pigs can get along without them, too. Farmers figure the fewer dogs the better. Hence the high taxes on "man's best friend."

SPURS DEMAND FOR QUICKSILVER

War Increases Call for Mineral Used In Munitions Making.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Spurred by war demand and high prices, many marginal quicksilver mines are preparing for operations and the richer properties have good profits in view.

Fulminate of mercury is an essential war munition being employed as the detonator for shells. A shortage of the mineral was the explanation of the large number of duds fired by the Germans in the closing months of the World war.

Before the war, American producers were getting about $89 per 70 pound flask. Recently the price has fluctuated between $120 and $170.

Try this for removing stubborn lip-stick stains from linens: Rub soap into the stain, let it stand an hour or so, then wash the garment in the usual way. If the stain still remains sponge it with hydrogen peroxide and rinse at once in cold water.

To make a fluffy pie crust do not cut the flour and fat too fine—about the size of a small pea is fine enough. To glaze the top of a two-crust pie, spread a little egg white, beaten until slightly foamy, over it.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"What would you do, Olina?" I asked in the indulgent tone with which one speaks to a child. "Something drastic, I' suppose."

"Indeed I would," she said. "Mr. Veritzen must be getting senile or he never would have made her learn her role that way. You know as well as I do, only you won't say so—please forgive me; I don't mean to be impudent—that if Mary makes a public performance reading her lines that way, she'll make a complete flop. If I were she, I'd have figured out my own way of saying those lines, and when rehearsal came, I'd say it my own way, no matter what happened."

I made my smile and tone the least bit patronizing.

"You evidently don't know your future stepfather very well," I said. "Thwarting him or going against his instructions simply isn't done in his organization. If you or Mary did anything like that, you might last for three or four lines, in his sheer astonishment at your effrontery, but that would be all. You would find yourselves inexorably dismissed from his organization, with no chance of ever getting back."

Her face was aghast as she looked at me.

"You really mean he would do that?" she asked.

"Indubitably," I replied.

She digested that for a second, then she sprang to her feet.

"It's a shame!" she said. "And if I knew Mr. Veritzen better, I'd tell him so."

"I'd advise you not to interfere, Olina," I said. "I know Mr. Veritzen from years of professional association with him. Speaking to him about this would do Mary no possible good and might endanger your own professional chances. He is a czar in his own domain, you know."

A perceptible shiver rippled over her.

"Poor Maman!" she said, "and poor me!"

I hastened to undo the mischief I inadvertently had made.

"I don't think you need have the slightest uneasiness on that score" I said quickly. "Your mother is perfectly capable of managing him, and if you play your cards right and humor a few of his prejudices, you will find him extravagantly indulgent to your every whim."

"Well! nothing can be changed now, anyway," she said, and I saw that she had said all she was going to say on the subject of Mary's rendition.

"Are you coming back with me to your mother's room?" I asked.

"If you don't mind, no," she said. "Maman didn't exactly rule me out, but I gathered the impression that this was to be a conference for adults, so I think, if I may, I'll stay down here and play some more. It's so long since I had a harp under my hands, I'm positively nostalgic for it."

"Play as long as you like," I told her. "No one will disturb you."

I went out of the room upon that assurance to her and climbed the stairs to the second floor. But I did not go directly to Olga's suite. I told myself that she and the romantic suitor who had come back into her life would not miss me for a few more minutes. I also knew that no sedative would do Mary any good until she had my report upon Olina's queries, and I went straight to her door, gave my own signaling knock, and then went in to save her the trouble of coming to the door or calling to me.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, Feb. 24.

According to an impressive array of planetary aspects, this should be a lively and stirring day, even to the point of being devastating and disintegrating, unless there is much sagacity and judicious handling of sudden and imperative situations that may arise. Complete upheaval is possible in the launching of major projects, which have every promise of success. Elements of duplicity call for wisdom and tact rather than hasty speed or quarrels. Sign papers cautiously.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of revolutionary change and surprising success and satisfaction if they manage with tact, policy, and restraint of tongue and pen. Bad temper and impetuosity make no headway, and carelessness with signatures may be hazardous. Duplicity menaces. But when such perils are wisely managed, there should be good results and perhaps thrilling adventure and romance.

A child born on this day may have great capacity for success, being intuitive, original and creative in novel directions. But it may suffer from its own unguarded tongue and temper.

Proof Aplenty That You Can Get Job

So many young men write to this column that a job would turn this world, in spite of all its horrors, into a Paradise. They've got the girl, their families approve and in a good many cases they've got the ring—but no job.

So, suppose this evening we have a little sales talk on the subject of job-getting. Ever since I had lunch with those two indefatigable optimists who wrote "We Are Forty and We Did Get Jobs," I've been under the impression that you can land a job if you go about it the right way.

For instance, these women said that when they went after a job they persuaded the pundit who had the job to give, that they were not looking for work as much as he was looking for someone of their knowledge and ability.

I remember one particular instance, in which a job was offered to demonstrate a new type of refrigerator. Not only did they study up everything connected with that refrigerator in advance, but they went around to places where rival refrigerators were sold and discovered everything available about the rival coolers besides. When they applied for the job they simply overwhelmed the new refrigerator agent with what they knew concerning refrigerators past and present, and especially the one about to be put on the market.

A current magazine reprints an article on: "They Pick Their Jobs—and Land Them." The marketing clinics have followed the lines of the two women who wrote "We Are Forty and We Did Get Jobs." These clinics say "provided you are qualified, the key to the job you want lies in your own hands—if you only knew it."

This is no glittering Ham-and-Egg racket. It's plain every-day truth. In cold-hearted New York, where job competition is ruthless, thousands of people—all sorts of people—have found the keys that unlock doors, providing them with a living.

The question of job-getting boils down to this: How much do you know about the job you want to get? A couple of weeks ago, at one of Mrs. Roosevelt's press conferences, the guests were two women trying to reduce that terrific quota of jobless youth, amounting to between four and a half to five million.

We seem to have been discussing jobs for women more than jobs for men. But the same rule holds good for both. If a boy has left school in one of the lower grades, he's got to study up if he wants a white-collar job. The tragedy of these odd-man jobs is that so many boys, who have not completed a grade school education are after them.

"Dig out your hidden assets. Everybody has them," says the Man-Marketing Clinic, founded by Sidney Edlund. The clinic teaches people to see themselves as they would like their employer to see them.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

IT MAY BE A BLESSING

What may seem like a plague, in the form of an absurdly high contract into which your partner pushed you, may turn out to be a blessing in disguise. If you stick by your guns, you may find a lot of lucky breaks in the cards and also in the way your opponents choose to play them. The ultimate result may be a lot better score than you figured to get out of the deal without performing impossible miracles.

Did anybody ever know of crazier bidding than North did on this deal? In the duplicate tournament where it arose, all experienced pairs got into 3-No Trumps and made four. This North was an auction player to whom contract bidding had been explained—the idea of getting as high as you can. And did he do it?

On examining the dummy, it looks as if two tricks may possibly be lost in each suit except spades. But West led the club 10 to the J and A. Next came the diamond A and K and one to the Q. West returned the spade 3 to the J. The spade K was cashed, club led to the K dropping the Q and setting up the remainders, the spade A furnished a heart discard, the heart finesse won, and the rest of South's hand was now good. He had lost only one trick, to the trump Q.

Make-Up for Round-Faced Miss

By MME. QUI VIVE

Little Miss Pudgy looks in the mirror, regards her fullmoon face with disapproval. She yearns for a visage that is long and oval; if she looked half starved she wouldn't mind.

Little baby face takes inventory. A short span from chin to forward hairline. Cheeks full and round, eyes round, mouth of the rosebud type. She is a tender and luscious eyeful these days of mask-like mugs and snakey shapes. Much can be done with makeup, millinery and beauty tricks.

First of all, diet. A cutting down on fats, starches and sweets. Second, a deep-seated interest in outdoor sports. The young girl who is overweight mustn't let adipose tissue get the best of her in coming years.

Next, no little monkey hats. The pill box is cute on an oval face, out of order when cheeks are full, the face short. Hats with brims are flattering. They can be found. Smart ones, too.

The face appears longer if the hair is swept up high from the forehead. Instead of rolls, wear a pompadour, hold it in place with tuck combs.

Hair at the sides should be neither slicked back or free and full. A few undulations and flat ringlets are what the coiffure stylist orders.

A bit of rouge in the center of the cheeks will form a shadow, slenderizing the countenance. Eyebrows should be given an upward tilt at the ends. A tiny film of pink on the eyelids is a good idea.

Lips should be of medium width, the lipstick not used to form a wide line. Earlobes should carry a rosebud flush.

The round neckline makes the face look fuller than the V. Ordinary sleeves are more flattering than the full leg-of-mutton. Heavy necklaces draw attention to a neck that is short and full; light, dainty ones are better.

THEATERS

LITTLE Lana Turner who left a path of numb hearts in Hollywood when she eloped with Orchestra Leader Artie Shaw, didn't do so badly for herself. Shaw is retiring and about the only thing the country knows about him is that he's tops among orchestras and his income runs into box car figures. Last year he got $40,000 from M. G. M. for "Dancing Co-Ed;" $50,000 from his phonograph records; $2,500 a week for radio work, and $2,000 a night for one-night stands with his orchestra. With Lana's few hundred dollars a week the Shaw family should be able to manage.

"G. W. T. W." Here Today.

The Madison theater is given over today to the first showings of "Gone With The Winds" in Mansfield, with one show this afternoon and one again this evening at 8. Incidentally, the shows are about four hours long, so that the afternoon performance lasts from 2 to 6 and the evening shows from 8 to 12. The big feature—biggest in motion picture history—will be shown here twice daily for a week. There will be no "bank night" at the Madison tonight, although the other Warner theaters will "carry on" with this Friday night attraction.

Lamarr and Tracy.

The long delayed "I Take This Woman" reaches the Ohio screen Saturday for a four-day showing. The picture was made more than a year ago, shelved for a number of months and then re-made. It takes Hedy Lamarr out of the tropics in which "Lady of the Tropics" and "Algiers" had kept the exotic beauty. Spencer Tracy is a physician to the poor who goes "society doctor" in order to provide luxuries for his too-beautiful wife. Kent Taylor is the trouble maker in this romance. In addition to taking over "bank night" controls tonight from the Madison, the Ohio will also stage a weekly kiddie show tomorrow noon at 12:15, because of the road show at the Madison.

• • •

McCoy In Dual Role.

Tim McCoy plays a dual role in "Fighting Renegade," which is a Majestic feature today and tomorrow. He is seen as El Puma (The Cat), a desert guide, and as Lightning Bill Carson, former F. B. I. man. The government man finds himself under suspicion, as El Puma, of murdering an explorer. The second feature is Nelson Edry, Edward Arnold, Victor McLaglen and Virginia Bruce in "Let Freedom Ring."

• • •

Two New Songs.

Two new songs are introduced in the latest Renfrew of the Royal Mounted series, "Fighting Mad," which is at the Park. The numbers are "The Lady's In Distress" and the melodious "Trail's End," which are sung by James Newill, star of the outdoor picture. "Captain Fury," a stirring tale of the Australian bush country, is also shown. A dashing Irishman is played by Brian Aherne, with Victor McLaglen as his partner.

South of The Border.

There is action below the Rio Grande in "South of The Border" which brings Gene Autry and Smiley Burnette to the Ritz screen. The gallant cowboy goes to the rescue of a beautiful Mexican girl and her family when a revolution breaks out in Palermo, Mexico. The popular song, "South of The Border" gets a work-out in this Autry film. Also shown is "Call A Messenger" with the Dead End Kids and the Little Tough Guys.

ANALYZES PROPAGANDA IN FIRST OF 'OPEN FORUM' TALKS MONDAY

Will propaganda draw the United States into the present European war? What are the methods and objectives of professional propagandists? How and to what extent are the opinions of people influenced by propaganda?

. Answers to these questions will form the basis of a lecture by E. J. Eggl, professor of American history at DeSales college, Toledo, when he launches "The Open Forum," at the Mansfield-Leland hotel ballroom Monday evening.

The forum, which will consist of a series of five lectures to be presented during the next six weeks, is being sponsored by Catholic societies and clubs of Mansfield.

All the speakers in the series are professors at DeSales college in Toledo. A question and answer period will follow each address.

Eggl's topic in the opening lecture will be "Propaganda and Public Opinion." His talk will include a discussion on the purposes and methods of propaganda; the control of the main arteries of international news, and the principles and tests to be applied in establishing reliable information.

"In a democracy you must form opinions," Eggl says. "To a large extent the rule of the majority decides our national policies. No American can neglect the duty to be fully and accurately informed on all public questions in these critical times."

Eggl has lectured before clubs and societies on topics of current interest for many years. He has taught in Toledo high schools, Toledo Teachers college, University of Toledo and DeSales college for the past 15 years.

PROF. E. J. EGGL

He is a member of the American Historical society, Mississippi Valley Historical association, Ohio Archaeological and Historical society and the Academy of Social and Political Sciences.

Other topics in the forum series and the dates of the talks are:

March 5, "Peace or War?"; March 11, "Government—Absolute or Limited?"; March 25, "Where Are We Going?"; April 3, "Education: Totalitarian or Democratic?"

Each lecture will begin at 8:15 p. m.

GRADS TO DINE

Case Alumni Mark Founders' Day Here Tuesday.

Alumni of Case School of Applied Science in Mansfield and nearby towns will gather at 6:45 p. m. Tuesday at the Mansfield-Leland hotel for the annual Founders day dinner which will celebrate the 60th anniversary of the founding of the school this year.

Two members of the Cleveland school's faculty will be guests and will speak. They are A. O. Willey, associate professor of automotive engineering, and G. B. Carson, assistant professor of industrial engineering.

An election of officers will be held during the evening. There are about 40 members of the alumni group living in Mansfield, Ashland, Galion, Shelby and Bucyrus.

Arrangements for the meeting are in charge of C. W. Conklin, president of the local group, and Carl Schweir, secretary.

OFFICIAL, NOW

Instructors Who Passed First Aid Test Get Certificates.

Instructors certificates were presented to men and women who recently completed a course in first aid under Dr. Albert Sharpe, National Red Cross instructor, when first aid instructors met at Red Cross Wednesday night.

Most of the instructors had certificates before but Red Cross regulations require study and examinations every two years.

The Instructors club, a county organization, elected the following officers to serve for the year: Martin Merschdorf, chairman, Lewis M. Campbell, vice chairman, and Joseph T. Geiger, secretary.

R. D. Iden, recently appointed chairman of the first aid committee, outlined the Red Cross service in the county for the ensuing year.

Hull's Rumored 'Not-to-Run' Decision Stirs Capital

CLAIM ACTION POSSIBLE 3RD TERM FACTOR

Speculators Also See Garner-Farley Combination on Dem Presidential Ticket.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Rumored decision of Secretary of State Cordell Hull to remain out of the 1940 presidential race created interest among national politicos today, because of its possible effect on the campaign plans of both President Roosevelt and Postmaster General James A. Farley.

At times, both the president and Farley have designated Hull as the first choice for the 1940 Democratic nomination.

Speculaltion was aroused over the possibility that Hull's withdrawal from the race might be a factor in the president deciding to run for a third term.

The president frequently has spoken to intimates about the availability of Hull to succeed him in the White House. To some, he has said Hull would make a great president. Others, he has advised to "see Hull and get to know him better."

To one intimate, he frankly confided some weeks ago he would like to see Hull in the White House, because in such an administration he would feel free to offer his personal services as an American arbiter in any peace conference terminating the second World war. Since then, the president has sent Undersecretary Sumner Wells abroad to "get information" on the possibility of a peace conference in the spring.

Farley long has spoken favorably of Hull as the Democratic presidential nominee. His friends have gone further and advocated a Hull-Farley ticket, with the postmaster general in second place on a ticket headed by Hull. Some of Farley's intimates have opposed such a ticket, but this opposition failed to daunt Farley's friendliness to it.

Farley opened his own 1940 campaign in Massachusetts by offering himself for the top-place nomination. This would be in keeping with political tradition, if Farley is actually seeking the second-place nomination. And, in talking of Hull for the top place, Farley invariably has used the argument that the "president will support him."

With Hull out of it, there will be speculation as to whether Farley has another choice for the presidential nomination. There exists the possibility of a Garner-Farley combination with Farley supporting Vice President John N. Garner for first place, with himself getting the other nomination. Or there may be a Wheeler-Farley combination, as some of the postmaster general's intimates favor Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana for the number 1 spot.

Careers Conflict, Alice Faye Plans to Divorce Martin

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — The tuneful romance of blues-singer Alice Faye and her handsome radio-crooning husband, Tony Martin, has come to a discordant ending. Alice plans to get a divorce.

The blond actress and the dark-haired radio star, who also has achieved prominence in the movies, eloped to Yuma, Ariz., Sept. 3, 1937. Neither had been married before. But their music careers, linked at first, finally pulled them apart.

Martin's radio and orchestra work kept him constantly "on the road" or in the east.

Alice, banned by her studio from radio appearances which interferred with her acting career, remained close to Hollywood and the films, which during 1939 elevated her to seventh place in stars' box-office ranking.

After laughing off many reports within recent months that they were estranged, Miss Faye announced last night that she had instructed her attorney to file suit for divorce, charging incompatibility. She said Martin would not contest the suit.

Up and Down THE STREET

Richard R. Poling, Mansfield football expert, received recognition in a recent issue of "The Laurel" magazine, official publication of the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity of which he is a member. The story describes the method Poling employs to compile his football record book, has selected 84 per cent of the winners during the past 12 years, the organ said

One of those "crime dramas" on the radio became too realistic the other night for a courthouse employe. While he was listening to the gun blasts, rough talk and screams comng from the loudspeaker, he thought he heard some one call from the street. Thinking that maybe it was only the radio after all, he didn't investigate until later. Then he learned that a burglar had snatched a woman's purse just outside the window and she had called for help while struggling to hold onto the purse.

Mansfield citizens who spread their cultural interests over a 75-mile area around the city, are going to be torn between a lot of desires on the night of March 5. That is the date set for the Community Players' presentation of "Petrified Forest," for the dedication of the new Johnny Appleseed high school and for the second lecture in "The Open Forum" series at the Leland hotel. But to add to the complication Rubinoff and his "talking" violin will appear in concert at McDowell auditorium in Ashland, and Nelson Eddy will be heard in concert at Music hall in Cleveland.

It's going to be about New Orleans, just after the Civil war, when the northern army occupied the city. Most of the research is complete except for a trip to the Louisiana city which he will make in two weeks. Although the book is just started, rumor has it that Columbia pictures has already offered him $50,000 for movie rights and has picked Jean Arthur to do the heroineing. . . . The man's fabulous!

WARD RULES

Holds LeMunyon Now Illegally Holding City Job.

S. C. LeMunyon, 71-year-old superintendent of sewer maintenance, appointed Jan. 1 by Mayor William J. Locke is employed illegally and drawing a salary to which he is not entitled, City Solicitor Marion D. Ward ruled today.

Ward said that his opinion, which was requested by the mayor yesterday will go to Locke this afternoon.

He based his ruling on the fact that LeMunyon, a member of the Public Employes Retirement system, had not filed an application to continue in service past the compulsory retirement age of 70 before Dec. 31, 1939, as required by law.

This, he held, would make any payment of salary illegal as Wilson E. Hoge, secretary of the retirement board had pointed out in a letter to City Auditor Paul L. Kelley several days ago.

LeMunyon claims he had filed an application with the board in Columbus to withdraw from the retirement system in December in order to go to work for the city. He is a former state highway worker.

ROOSEVELT AIDS HIT SEC ACTION

Criticize U. S. Commission for Refusal to Serve as Trustee for Associated Gas.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The security and exchange commission's refusal to serve as trustee in bankruptcy of the Associated Gas and Electric system was criticized today by two of President Roosevelt's cabinet officers.

Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr., and Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, in letters to Sen. George W. Norris, Ind., Nebr., who has similarly criticized the SEC's action, said they were "disappointed" at the attitude taken by the agency.

The Associated Gas and Electric company and the Associated Gas and Electric corporation, top holding companies of Associated Gas, filed a petition for bankruptcy several weeks ago in the New York federal court.

Federal Judge Vincent Leibell subsequently asked the SEC if it would be willing to serve as trustee in the proceedings, but the agency rejected the offer.

Morgenthau, whose interest in the proceedings stems from failure of the company to pay a $5,000,000 settlement in a long-standing dispute over money owed in tax liabilities, declared that the company's present financial plight had resulted from "wasteful practices."

"Congress undoubtedly had such wasteful practices as these in mind," he said, "when it conferred power upon the securities and exchange commission to act as sole trustee for registered holding companies in bankruptcy."

LIVE PIG, PIE-THROWING ADD TO HILARITY IN 'ROLLIN' RHYTHM'

"Rollin' Rhythm," which was presented to a Mansfield audience last night at Senior High school auditorium and will be repeated tonight, takes a leaf from the popular "Hellzapoppin" and gives everything from custard pie-throwing, live pigs and ducks, stooges in the audience, to bonafide talent in singing and dancing.

The extravaganza, which is being produced by the Rogers Theatrical company and sponsored by the Mansfield Public Parks association, is a jamboree of color, music and just plain nuttiness. But it's all good clean fun and the audience of more then 750 entered into the spirit of the thing last night and it was a toss-up as to who had the most fun, performers or spectators.

There are 18 acts and novelties in the first part and 14 numbers in the minstrel show wrich makes up the second part. Each act added its bit and won its share of applause.

In scene two Don Kirkpatrick with Lois Schuey almost stopped the show with his singing and he received a tremendous hand again in the minstrel show with his singing "All The Things You Are" from the current Jerome Kern stage hit. The Johnathan Glee club singing "Out of The Dusk to You," Helen Dickson's "A Heart That's Free" and Sarah Wallace's comedy songs were all highlights of the entertainment.

One of the funniest acts was in the lunch room scene where Bill Schauck gets slapped in the face with a custard pie, a la Keystone Cops, with Ben Rawls as the cook. Then there was the hillbilly skit in which a rea' Porky Pig and a Donald Duck held the center of the stage. Choruses and singers and dancers seemed to make an endless procession across the stage.

The minstrels were attractively costumed, the jokes were snappy—decidedly snappy at times—and the music was tuneful. Dick Zimmerman, whose daddy, Roy Zimmerman, was one of the of the old minstrel men when minstrelsy was in its palmy days, did a nice bit of dancing.

Johnn Grabler, well known Mansfield entertainer, "doubled in brass" by doing a part in the first half of the show and as the interloctutor in the second half. The chorus in the minstrel sequence was made up largely of members of the Johnathan Glee club.

One of the stunts was the clever and nonsensical interrputed radio broadcast, "Nuts To You." But you have to see it to appreciate it.

The show will be repeated tonight at 8.15.

MAN, WIFE PRAY AS THEY WALK TO DEATH TRAP

Pay With Lives for Poisoning Woman's Former Husband in Love Tragedy.

(By United Press)

MONTREAL—Achille and Mary Louise Grondin, a prayer on their lips, were hanged in the Montreal jail yard today for the poison murder of Mrs. Grondin's former husband.

A black flag at half mast over the walls of Bordeaux prison in the morning twilight and the tolling of chapel bells signalled the end to a love tragedy which in many respects was the Canadian counterpart of New York's Ruth Snyder-Judd Gray case

Achille, 44, and Mary Louise, 40, had murdered her former husband, Villemond Brochu, on his farm near the village of Beuce. Together, they poisoned him slowly over a period of weeks and then, after his funeral, were married.

Grondin died first. He was led from the circular prison and placed upon the scaffold before the sun had cleared the horizon.

At 6:45 a. m. the trap was sprung. At 7:01 a. m. Gondrin was pronounced dead.

Nine minutes later Mrs. Grondin, her lips moving in prayer, mounted the scaffold. Like her husband, she appeared resigned as guards bound her ankles and tied her hands behind her.

Her body was cut down at 7:26 a. m. as the chapel bells began a muffled tolling.

Grondin was a hired hand on Brochu's farm. He and Mrs. Brochu fell in love. They killed Brochu and got married five weeks later. The fact the widow did not observe the customary period of mourning and other circumstances aroused the suspicions of neighbors. Police dug up Brochu's body. They found arsenic in the stomach. The Grondin's were tried and convicted.

FAIR ENOUGH

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—It is futile to challenge The Popolo Di Roma's version of the method by which American diplomatic representatives are selected, but still that system, with all its vulgar faults, may be preferred to the Italian way.

That is, Americans may prefer it while wishing, nevertheless, for improvement. There is no way of learning, however, what the Italian people think about anything, including their Count Ciano, who married into his job.

The Popolo Di Roma says that this country gives preference to enriched greengrocers who have been generous to the campaign funds of the party in power, and that is approximately right.

Some of the greengrocers are newspaper publishers, some are merchants and some are packers, but it would be dishonest to quibble. For a general term, greengrocers will do, and it will be agreed, also, that they go to their posts untrained and, as a rule, are withdrawn to make room for other greengrocers as soon as they have begun to get the hang of things.

However there is comfort for our pride in a comparison of the American way with the Italian way, for we begin with the fact that Italian ambassadors and ministers must be members of the Fascist Party which means that they must be racketeers at heart and probably by practice.

* * *

We know that in the rising days of Fascism in Italy it was customary for deadbeats and crooks of various kinds to join the party and denounce as enemies of the regime those whom they wished to put out of the way.

The man who owed another man an honest debt would put the finger on him and have him shipped away to a prison camp or killed.

Of course, not all members of the party were active or positive crooks but membership in the party bespoke a very hardy tolerance for the most unspeakable treachery, dishonesty and criminality.

* * *

The more brutal and indecent a man was the more ready to persecute another man, even unto death by torture, the more likely he was to qualify for a party job and a handsome broadcloth uniform.

What Fascism did was to substitute the Mafia system for the more enlightened but more difficult semi-democratic system. This just proved that the Italian nation, for all its culture and heredity, lacked the ability of the crude American people.

They had to resort to gangsterism on a national scale, and the distinguished Fascists of the present who came through the unsettled days when the racket was being imposed on their nation were hoodlums of extraordinary talent.

Now it may be that this produces the best kind of diplomats for Italian purposes, inasmuch as diplomacy in the Italian, German and Russian system, is an elegant form of safe-blowing, porch-climbing and eavesdropping. And it may be admitted that our system does not produce the best kind for American purposes.

* * *

And, by the way, has anyone heard anything in the last few months about the indomitable legions of the Duce which advanced so briskly to the rear at Guadalajara and which now wear chain-mail chest protectors in the seat of their trousers?

Weren't these irresistible legions going to do something to France a year or so ago when the cultured Old World diplomacy of Italy was loudly demanding Tunesia, Corsica and Savoy? This would seem an opportune time for the Duce's brave lions to carry out those threats—unless, of course, in the actual face of war, their indomitability faded out.

This last is not strictly pertinent to the subject of the piece, but it is always a pleasure to revive the glories of Guadalajara.
